Cabinet Construction

Santa Ana is going to have a real museum.

The Bowers Memorial museum at Twentieth and Main streets should be open and displaying exhibits by next fall.

Opening of the museum in the near future was assured today with the approval of a project for building the necessary cabinets and fixtures, by the State Emergency Relief administration headquarters at San Francisco.

Curator Named
In addition to this development the city council last night appointed
Mrs. E. E. Coulter of 826 South Ross street, as curator. She will begin her duties immediately.
The SERA already has approved another project which provides for an assistant curator and several office assistants to work under Mrs. Coulter's direction.

According to Terrance Halloran, SERA director here, the work of building the cabinets and other fixtures will start as soon as carpenters are available, but Mr. Halloran said he was unable to make a definite prediction at this time.

Caretaker Appointed Appointment of Mrs. Coulter last night followed the recommendation of the museum board of directors. Councilman William Penn pointed out that if the construction project should be approved, a supervisor would be necessary, and

TRAIN DERAILED

ROCK SPRINGS, Wyo.—Passengers were hurried from their berths in a scene of terror and confusion when a California-bound Union Pacific train was derailed 13 miles east of here at 4 a. m. today, while speeding at about 50 miles an hour. None of the passengers was injured.

STAR WINS DECREE

LOS ANGELES.—Colleen Moore, screen actress, was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce today from A. P.
Scott, New York, on her charges that he was harsh and jealous.

MANY JAPANESE SICK

OSAKA, Japan.—Threats of disease spurred sanitary efforts today in the western Japanese prefecture devastated by floods.
Osaka city reported 62 cases of dysentery and 24 of typhoid.

REDS HIT JAPAN

MOSCOW.—The official press charged today that incidents along the Soviet frontier in the Far East have been provoked deliberately by Japanese militarists to stir Russian forces to counter measures and thus bring on grave complications.

WHAT ABOUT THIS PARKING?

Many Express Their Ideas

Santa Ana business men today gave their hearty approval to the plan of Councilman Ernest Layton for a parking survey to determine what can be done to improve parking facilities in this city.

Local leaders interviewed showed that they have thought seriously of the question and indicated that the problem is one which the city must solve if it is to continue to be recognized as a convenient place in which to shop.
Means of approaching a solution, suggested by various men, ranged from elimination of angle parking on narrower streets to

Ex-Vice President
Curtis Wants New Republican Leader

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, July 2. (AP)—Charles Curtis, vice president in the Hoover administration, today declared for a change in the republican national chairmanship.

"They are not getting to work soon enough," he said in an interview. "I think there ought to be a new chairman."

He did not mention Henry P. Fletcher, chairman of the party's national committee, by name.

200 DEAD AS

With Freighter; Half
Of Crew Saved

OSAKA, Japan, Wednesday,
July 3. (AP)—Nearly 200 Japanese were believed to have drowned in the sinking of the little passenger steamer Midori Maru early today.

The little vessel went down in the inland seas southwest of Kobe at 1 a. m. today.

A ship of 1725 tons, the Midori
Maru collided in heavy fog off
Shodo island with the freighter Senzan Maru and sank quickly.
The freighter was virtually undamaged.

TRYING YOUTH
AS ROBBER

Accused of a daring holdup in Orange in which he is said to have secured $255 from his victims, Didrik Mustad, Los Angeles youth, was facing a jury in department 3, superior court, today. Practically the entire morning session was taken up in selection of the jury.

Following his arrest and identification by his victims, Mustad made an effort to secure his liberty on a writ of habeas corpus alleging that evidence at his preliminary hearing was not sufficient to hold him for trial in superior court. The petition was denied by Presiding Judge James L. Allen.

Mustad is accused of having held up and robbed Mr. and Mrs. W. G.
L. Page and Mr. and Mrs. O. F. D.
Page in the home of the former couple. The robbery was committed early on the morning of March 18.

F.D.R.'S YOUTH
PROGRAM HIT

DENVER, Tuesday, July 2. (AP)—
A guarded criticism of President Roosevelt's $50,000,000 national youth aid program unexpectedly was thrust before the National Education association today by Dr. Alexander J. Stoddard, superintendent of Providence, R. I. schools.

He predicted that the program will be a "palliative and not a cure of youth's problems" and criticized administration of the program by the treasury department instead of the educational system of the country.

BRIDGE BREAKS,
SCORES HURT

TORONTO, Tuesday, July 2. (AP)—
A span of wooden foot bridge, burdened by homeward-bound pic-nickers, collapsed early today, plunging more than two score persons headlong into a dark East York river.

Twenty-four persons were injured, none of them seriously, and were taken to hospitals.

One of the most feasible means of making an immediate move toward a solution would be to ask all employees of downtown business places to park their cars in the less congested areas, or in parking lots, so that space would be available for narrower streets to

ARRANGE FOR VOLUNTARY
NRA CODES

Minimum Wages, Maximum Hours, Abolition of Child Labor Asked

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, July
2. (AP)—President Roosevelt arranged today with the skeletonized NRA and the federal trade commission to carry out with industry voluntary code agreements supplanting the code structure outlawed by the supreme court.

He authorized the trade commission to enter into negotiations with industry on fair trade agreements. The NRA was authorized to assist in voluntary agreements for minimum wages, maximum hours of work and abolition of child labor.

Code Revival Delayed
The arrangements for assistance in establishing a voluntary code structure were regarded as indicative of a postponement of any administration plan to revive the compulsory code system during the present session of congress.

It was emphasized at the White House that the voluntary set-up was to prevail pending study of proposals for new legislation.

It was made clear that there is no way to force members of an industry into a voluntary agreement.

James O'Neill, director of NRA, said his agency would proceed to aid in voluntary agreements on labor standards.

Study Coordinator Plans
Attorney General Cummings attended the White House session, together with the trade commission and O'Neill. A means of coordinating functions of their agencies in the voluntary effort was canvassed.

Mr. Roosevelt arranged to talk later today with American Federation of Labor leaders who have urged a federal licensing of industry as a substitute for the former NRA code system.

BOYS SHOT IN ESCAPE TRY

PENDLETON, Ind., Tuesday,
July 2. (AP)—Shots from a sawed-off shotgun killed one youth and injured another, perhaps fatally, as four prisoners tried to escape from the Indiana State Reformatory here early today.

One of the quartet fled through the gunfire to freedom; the fourth cringed behind a wall where guards found him within 20 minutes.

None of the four was armed,
Superintendent A. F. Miles said.
Simon Dyer was the prisoner killed. Robert McAllister was gravely wounded and Robert Sanders was recaptured. Darrell Paul Jones, suspected ringleader, is at large.

PRESIDENT IS ASKED HERE

An invitation to President Franklin D. Roosevelt to attend either ceremonies conducted in connection with the laying of the cornerstone of the new city hall or dedicatory ceremonies for the city hall to be arranged to suit the convenience of the president, was voted by the city council last night in the form of a resolution.

Councilman Joseph P. Smith presented the resolution, which was adopted unanimously.

The resolution, copies of which will be sent to California's two senators and to the congressman from this district, follows:

"Resolved by the city council of the United States, Honorable Franklin D. Roosevelt, be and he is hereby extended a cordial invitation to be present at the laying of the cornerstone for and/or the dedication of, and/or any other function which may be arranged,

Legion Minute Men
Leaders in War on Radicalism Named

By ROCH BRADSHAW

On the eve of the Fourth of July, the Santa Ana American Legion post today had reaffirmed the ideals of the Declaration of Independence, issued a ringing call for a renewal of the spirit of patriotism which built this nation, and launched an aggressive campaign against those who would tear the foundations of the country asunder.

In the old war spirit of "They shall not pass!" the executive committee of Post 131, American Legion, met last night at Veterans' hall and began erection of bulwarks against the advances of communism and radicalism in Orange county.

3000 RIOTERS
ARE CALMEDMounted Police Battle
Relief Camp Uprisers
With Gas, Gun Fire

REGINA, Sask., Tuesday, July
2. (AP)—Three thousand relief camp strikers, who battled Royal Canadian Mounted Police in a riot during which a municipal officer was beaten to death, were subdued today by tear gas and gun fire.

A second officer and a striker were injured critically. Five more policemen and a score of strikers were hurt before the police quelled the crowd, arrested 27 persons and dispersed the others.

The riot broke out after the mounted police and city officers charged a mass meeting of the strikers, halted by lack of funds in their march on Ottawa to protest against relief camp conditions.
The strikers faced removal to a detention camp, pending return to their homes.

CITY LIGHTING
DEAL SIGNED

Action taken last night by the city council in authorizing Mayor Fred C. Rowland to sign to two-year contract with the Southern California Edison company for electricity indicates that Santa Ana's principal thoroughfares will soon be more brightly lighted.

Under the terms set up in the contract, bills for electricity over and above the amount expended during the year just closed will be reduced 50 per cent. In other words, when the candlepower of some of the lights is increased, and still other lights turned on,
the additional amount of money necessary will be just half of what it would have been had the city not entered into the contract, it was said at the council meeting.

Measure Finally Given

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, July
2. (AP)—Legislation to regulate public utilities was passed today by the house after twice rejecting President Roosevelt's request for a measure to outlaw "unnecessary" holding companies in seven years. The vote was 323 to 81, a majority of 242.

Earlier, the rebellious house voted 257 to 147 for its own bill, which gives the securities commission discretionary authority over the holding companies. That was on a question of substituting it for the senate measure.

Defeated Yesterday
Yesterday it voted 216 to 146 against the senate provision for mandatory elimination by 1942 of holding companies deemed unnecessary. That passed the senate by a one-vote margin.

Despite administration efforts to recoup from the defeat yesterday, the house today gave an even larger majority against the president. The margin was 70 yesterday and 110 today for the motion to substitute the house bill.

Now Goes to Senate
The measure, offered by Chairman Wheeler of the senate interstate commerce committee, and Chairman Rayburn of the house interstate commerce committee, now goes back to the senate to an uncertain fate.

Wheeler said the fight would be transferred to a conference committee to adjust differences between the senate and house.

"If we can't get a decent bill out of conference I am in favor of letting it die and going to the country on the issue," he said.

A republican motion to send the measure back to the house interstate commerce committee was rejected 312 to 93.

200 STEVEDORES AND BARGE WORKERS WALK OUT IN NORTH MEN QUIT BY AGREEMENT, SAYS HEAD

Vote to Settle Union Differences to End Today or Tomorrow

SAN FRANCISCO, Tuesday, July 2. (AP)—Ted Star, president of the Bargemen's Union, announced that almost 200 stevedores and barge men working on San Francisco bay and Sacramento river vessels went on strike at 6:30 a. m. today.

The strike, Star said, was not officially called by the union but that the men quit work by "mutual agreement."

Affected areas were San Francisco, Stockton, Sacramento and immediate points.

The walkout began following completion of midnight passenger steamer runs.

Only 200 of the 1000 members in the San Francisco and Stockton locals of the union walked out, Star said.

He refused to explain if the others would remain at work indefinitely or would join their fellow workers in the strike.

End Vote Tomorrow

The vote on submitting differences to arbitration, begun three days ago among the bargemen, will not be completed until later today or tomorrow, Star said.

Previous reports the vote had been completed were erroneous, he said.

The bargemen voted to strike three days ago after employers declined to accede to demands for wage increases of from 30 to 150 per cent and shorter hours.

Longshoremen in all Pacific Coast ports of the United States today cast ballots to decide whether they will work on boats led by non-union workers in British Columbia, one of the principal questions which has kept maritime circles fearful of another huge strike such as tied up shipping last summer.

Vote on Strike

The stevedores also vote on whether they will cease work next Friday, July 5, the anniversary of the famous "bloody Thursday" battle between police and maritime strikers in San Francisco last year, in which two men were killed by police gunfire.

Officials of the International Longshoremen's association, which is conducting the vote, said results probably would not be made until tomorrow night.

The vote was ordered in an effort to settle the controversy which arose when the steamer Point Clear docked here with a cargo of lumber from British Columbia a week ago last Saturday.

Boat Still Unloaded

Picket lines were established on the pier immediately by members of the Marine Engineers union and longshoremen refused to pass the lines to unload the vessel.

Later the engineers withdrew, but a new picket line was set up by the Sailors' Union of the Pacific. The Point Clear has not been unloaded yet.

PORTLAND, Ore., Tuesday, July 2. (AP)—The march back to work grew more pronounced today in the strike-torn Pacific Northwest lumber industry, but several ugly snags still blocked complete, peaceful settlement.

An impasse continued at Seattle where silent employers continued to play a "waiting game" and union ranks remained firm in demands for union recognition as well as increased pay.

LONDON, July 2. (AP)—An estimated 1650 drivers and conductors went on strike today in protest against disciplinary action by the London passenger transport board in the case of a driver and conductor who were said to have

MORE ABOUT MUSEUM

for this reason Mrs. Coulter was appointed immediately.

Jerome B. Stephenson was employed last night to serve as caretaker at the museum. He already is employed by the city, and is to be transferred from another job.

What Job Entails

The construction project just approved calls for erection of a tool shed, a lattice fence and improvement of the grounds, in addition to the cabinet and fixture work. It will cost a total of $4,626, of which the SERA will provide $3457 for labor, leaving the city to pay the balance for supervision and materials.

The museum is a gift of the late Charles W. Bowers and Mrs. Bowers who left funds with which it was constructed. For some time it has been used as a meeting place for a number of organizations. A small number of articles have been given to the museum, but owing to lack of proper facilities with which to care for them, it has been impossible to accept the many offers which have been made.

P.T.A. COUNCIL MEETS TODAY WPA SPONSORS TO PAY PART

Introduction of committee chairmen of the Santa Ana council of Parents and Teachers was made at the executive board meeting of the organization this morning at 9:30 o'clock in the school administration building on North Main street, with Mrs. John J. Mills, president, officiating.

Four conferences were scheduled for the school of instruction to be held August 6 in the educational building of the First Christian church at 10 o'clock. Mrs. W. A. Price, editor of the California Parent-Teacher association magazine, will direct the magazine conference. Mrs. H. C. Drown, district program chairman, will be in charge of the conference on programs. Mrs. Norma Goodhue, state publicity director, will lead the publicity session, and Mrs. Oliver Wickersheim, district membership chairman, will be in charge of the membership group. Mrs. James Givens, city membership head, will assist her.

Luncheon speaker at the conference will be Mrs. James Lytell, veteran P. T. A. leader, of Los Angeles. Reservations for the luncheon are to be made by noon, August 5, with Mrs. Mills at 5622-J or Mrs. E. H. Elsner at 4893-W.

zations and the pastors of local churches to name committees representing their organizations, which will meet with the leaders in the Americanism movement.

Mass Meeting Planned

At this conclude the purposes and plans of the Legion Minute Man campaign will be outlined so that each group can take back to its own organization the same spirit of enthusiasm which has prompted the Legion men. New ideas and new means of combating the common enemy are expected to develop through such a meeting.

Later a general meeting of all the organizations may be held and finally a citizens' mass meeting at which the whole community would be informed of the Legion Minute Man campaign. It is hoped, through this program, to infuse the public with the aggressive spirit of patriotism and thus carry the fight against radicalism to the point where each individual will be a Minute Man himself, carrying the message of Americanism wherever he goes.

Real Threat Seen

The Minute Man program developed after an editorial in The Journal had suggested education as the best means of combating radicalism. Believing that if the people are informed of the facts about the American government they will not be susceptible to communist propaganda, the Legion launched its aggressive move.

That the menace of radicalism is a real threat was plainly evidenced in reports at last night's executive committee session. Mr. Strathman told of recent developments in which the radicals are seeking a foothold in the county. He told of the so-called workers' organizations which have been formed and of how the Mexican consul at Los Angeles has warned Mexican subjects not to affiliate with organizations which may lead them into trouble with the law.

Education Best Way

Mr. Strathman said that, in his opinion, the best possible means of combating communism is through education.

Cy Featherly, chairman of the Legion's Americanism committee, stressed the need in the campaign for reaching the people who are being worked on by the radical element. He said plans should be made to carry the message of Americanism to them particularly.

Attending last night's session, in addition to the men named, were Peter Van Dam, Arthur Eklund, Wilbur Getty, Charles Van Wyk and Harold Brown of the executive committee; Roland D. Flaherty, farm bureau secretary; Jules Markel, representative of the Disabled American Veterans of the World war; Don Jerome, exalted ruler of the Elks lodge, and Ridley Smith, member of the board of education.

NEW PRESIDENT LEADS GUILD

ORANGE, Tuesday, July 2.—The Bertha Epley guild of the Christian church met in the church parlor Monday evening with the new president, Mrs. Dora Rice, presiding.

Group leaders for the coming year were announced, including Mrs. Virginia Kennedy leader of group one; Mrs. Dorothy Ferrin, group two, and Mrs. Blanche Koger, group three. The program was in charge of Mrs. Koger. Mrs. Dayton Ditchey led in devotions, and Mrs. Eva Atherton took the group on an imaginary visit to the building of missions in Indianapolis.

recalcitrant congressmen into line with the president's view on the "death sentence" clause in the utility holding company bill.

"It's the damndest thing I've ever heard of," said the congressman, who voted yesterday to strike the clause from the bill.

Hoeppel declared he had been "interviewed by someone high up" this morning and told that his vote "ought to have been cast the other way."

"It was indicated to me," he said, "that my vote against the president may have some effect on the Works Relief appropriation for California."

"This is the damndest thing I've ever heard of. I'm opposed to any form of Naziism, or the use of public moneys in the alleviation of human misery as a club on me to control my vote."

Cities, counties and other sponsors of construction projects under the new Works Progress Administration must furnish at least 20 per cent of the cost of the jobs.

This was announced today by Terrance Halloran, State Emergency Relief administration director, as the big task of shifting the SERA load to the WPA began in Orange county.

The county SERA committee met this morning in Mr. Halloran's office and discussed the new WPA program at length, but so far only meager information is available. It is known, however, that sponsors must furnish 20 per cent of the cost of projects, whether this in the form of material, supervision or labor.

The local SERA headquarters has received circulars of instructions to sponsors, and in the near future will receive 150 blank application forms for sponsors. The SERA will carry on locally until the WPA gets under way.

The SERA will certify to the WPA those persons who are in need. The WPA will provide the jobs, but not on a relief basis. It is anticipated that wages may average about $850 per year, but this is not definite. There will be no budgets based on family size as under the SERA. If the time comes that there are no more persons on relief, the SERA will fade out and the WPA will carry on alone.

FARM PUMPING COST STUDIED

Because of increasing pumping lifts in several sections of Orange county, a survey has been launched to study comparative costs of electric and manual pumping plants and those operated individually, according to an announcement today by Farm Advisor Harold Wahlberg.

Detailed operating costs of at least five representative mutual plants and several individually operated plants covering the same amount of acreage and with similar pumping lifts will be obtained.

The water department of the farm bureau has approved the project in which the cooperating agencies are the division of agricultural engineering and division of irrigation in the University of California, the farm advisor's office and the farm bureau.

The investigational work in Orange county is in charge of James Tavernetti, representing the engineering division of the University of California. His headquarters are in the farm advisor's office. The work will require about three months.

Cooperating with Mr. Tavernetti is a local committee consisting of M. N. Thompson, county flood control engineer; Mr. Wahlberg, Assistant Farm Advisor W. M. Cory; W. C. Mauerhan of Katella, representing the county water district; J. A. Murdy, and Walter Humphreys of the farm bureau water committee.

PENNIES, CLOTHES REPORTED STOLEN

A box containing 1300 pennies and articles of clothing valued at $35 were stolen from the home of Dr. M. P. Hamrick in Olive last night, according to a report made to deputy sheriffs this morning.

Investigation disclosed that entry to the house had been made with a passkey between 10 a. m. and 5:30 p. m. yesterday.

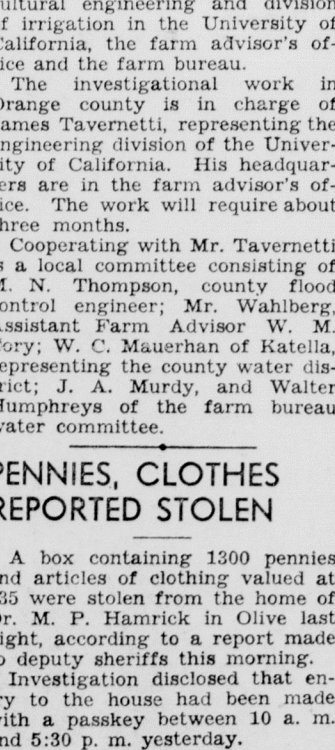

Wood Is Pleased

Howard I. Wood, chamber of commerce secretary, said he was extremely pleased to see the parking survey ordered. It is in line with the chamber's policy, he said, and the booster body will do all in its power to help. Mr. Wood suggested that angle parking might have to be discontinued in some very congested sections. He expressed the hope that any changes that are put into effect may be directed in ways that will be most advantageous to the city and its business growth.

Robert Brown of the Santa Ana Book store concurred in the suggestion that business men and employees leave parking space open for customers. He said Councilman Layton is on the right track in the parking survey. Also Mr. Brown suggested that in busy areas double parking should be discontinued during the rush hours. Such parking, coupled with angle parking on narrow streets, is dangerous, he said, although angle parking is necessary in his opinion for those people who find it inconvenient to park parallel.

Rex Kennedy of the Orange County Title company commended the parking survey plan and also suggested that a campaign be started to educate the public to be more considerate of others. Some streets, he also remarked, are too narrow to allow angle parking with safety. Mr. Kennedy, too, stressed the need for business men and their employees to park their cars outside the business district.

SCIENCE DENIES HER A NAME

Gurgling happily in her crib in New York Foundling hospital, Theresa Helene, eight months old, was unaware when this picture was taken that science had decreed her illegitimate. Her mother, Dolores Farrell, brought suit against a 20-year-old student, insisting he was the father of her child—but a test, physicians said, showed it was impossible for him to have been the father. be available for shoppers. There are many such cars parked on the streets in the opinion of several business men.

Angle parking on narrow streets is not only inconvenient for drivers, but also is a real traffic hazard in the opinion of Herbert L. Miller, tire dealer. This is particularly true, he said, when a large truck backs up to the curb and extends far out into the street.

Mr. Miller also said that some time ago he had made a suggestion that business men and their employees park their cars on streets outside the business district. If a merchant's car or those of his employees are parked in front of his store, they may be preventing a shopper from coming inside to spend money, Mr. Miller said.

Urges 20-Minute Zones

Ivrie Stein, stationary store proprietor, who originally suggested the 10-minute parking zones now in effect at certain places, suggested that a few 20-minute zones be created. Time limits on parking in central business areas might be shortened to 45 minutes, with one-hour limits farther out, he said. More parking lots maintained by merchants with free space for patrons of their stores would help, he suggested.

J. E. Headley, automobile dealer, said the public should be educated to be more considerate. Parking in driveways is one of the worst offenses, he said. Furthermore, not a few persons park their cars on Saturday night in a busy buying section and then go to entertainments. If they would park outside the business area and walk a few blocks, much trouble would be saved for others, he said. Angle parking on narrow streets gets more cars in a block and is not inconvenient except when large trucks stick out into the traffic lane, he said.

COUNTS DENIED IN WILL FIGHT

General denial of all charges hurled in the contest over probate of the will of the late Edgar Johnson, launched recently by Mrs. Jessie Elvira Johnson, who claims a widow's share in the state, was filed in superior court today by H. C. Head, administrator of the estate, and six beneficiaries under the will.

Beneficiaries filing denials today were Marvin Johnson and Charles Johnson, brothers of the former Fullerton publisher; Mrs. O. B. Evans, Fullerton; Grace Johnson, Santa Ana; Mrs. Cordelia Whitney, San Francisco, and L. A. Cooper of Los Angeles. Bequests to them represent $40,900. Virginia Remington, another beneficiary, filed her answer last week.

In his will the late publisher declared his marriage to Mrs. Johnson was illegal, and for that reason and declaring that he had already given her large sums of money, he gave her a home at Beverly Hills which he valued at $25,000. Her daughter, Beverly, whose paternity was denied in the former publisher's will, was left $5700.

In her contest Mrs. Johnson charged that at the time of making the will her husband was not mentally capable of disposing of his estate.

POLICE REPORTS
The following information was taken from today's reports on file at the Santa Ana police department:

Boys on bicycles throwing firecrackers on front porches. Officers sent to investigate could not find them.

Drunk reported lying in a car at Fruit and Mortimer streets, parked in front of his home. Officers took him to the house and advised him to go to bed.

Five boys shooting slingshots stopped by officers who took slingshots to police station.

Call received from Mrs. Boyd Sleeper at 3:24 a. m. that her son was missing from home. A second call from Mrs. Sleeper was received at 3:27 a. m. that the boy had been found walking in his sleep at his home.

Reports filed at 6 p. m. July 1. Delivery truck, belonging to Bob Wallace, 520 North Main street, stolen from in back of his residence.

COURT BRIEFS
Foreclosure of a trust deed and chattel mortgage on Brea property and equipment of the Specialty Oil Tool company is sought in a suit started in superior court by Mrs. Julia A. Dillman. Mrs. Dillman alleges that the trust deed and chattel mortgage were executed as security for a $25,000 promissory note. In addition to failing to pay a balance of $22,500 on the note, Mrs. Dillman alleges that the tool company has failed to pay taxes on the property involved for the past five years. The delinquent taxes, she charges, now total approximately $3000.

WILL ASK ACTION BE DEFERRED ON ZONING ORDINANCE

The Orange County Farm Bureau will ask the board of supervisors to defer action on a proposed county zoning ordinance until the farm bureau has had time to study the question more carefully. This was decided at a meeting of the farm bureau board of directors here yesterday.

D. R. Gardner, Orange, chairman of a special committee which has been studying the question, reported yesterday on the subject, but the directors did not feel familiar enough with the subject to act upon it and asked time for further study. Mr. Gardner's committee will report again at the board's August meeting.

Mr. Gardner also reported on tax legislation at the last session of the legislature in Sacramento. Ralph McFadden of Placenta, chairman of the legislative committee, outlined accomplishments of the legislature.

The verdict also exonerated the drivers of the other two cars. Vincent Dauser of Fullerton and D. W. Le Duc of Anaheim, whose car was struck head-on by the Melrose machine after it had glanced off Dauser's car.

CLOSING LECTURE SERIES TONIGHT

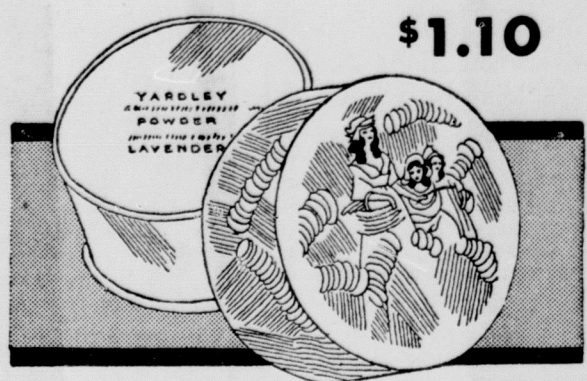

Claiming that the teachings of Jesus Christ contain the only practical remedy for adjusting the economic situation in the life of the individual and the world at large, the Rev. Wayne Walker will speak on the topic "The Teachings of the Master" tonight at 8 o'clock in the Ebell clubhouse.

Dr. Walker, who is a world traveler, teacher and healer, is thus closing a series of public lectures in the city.

A "device for producing dimples," which resembles a carpenter's brace and bit, has been patented.

TOTAL OF $156,000 SOUGHT TO REBUILD FULLERTON SCHOOLS

ELECTION ON BOND ISSUE AUGUST 13

Elementary Buildings Are Unsafe, Members Say At Special Meet

FULLERTON, Tuesday, July 2. Residents of the Fullerton elementary school district will be asked to vote $156,000 in bonds August 13 for rehabilitation of damaged buildings and new construction work, it was decided by the board of trustees at a meeting here last night.

An outlay of $427,215 is necessary to put all departments of the school system in first-class shape, members of the board said. They will ask federal aid amounting to $192,225 on the project and will use $78,999 available from the school building fund.

Buildings Said Unsafe
Walter Humphries, a member of the board, pointed out to residents present at the meeting last night that engineers had condemned some elementary buildings in Fullerton and that all were felt unsafe. Board members felt that with proposed expenditures all buildings can be made capable of withstanding a earthquake, and called the election as he said.

Included in plans for the schools is construction of new classroom units and a combined heating plant, auditorium and locker building at the Wilshire avenue grounds. Two structures are planned for classroom accommodations, one having three school rooms, library, principal's office and book store, and the second seven classrooms, domestic science and manual training departments.

Program Outlined
A new office for superintendent of schools, supply store and new kindergarten unit are also included in the plans.

The complete program as outlined by the board last night included: Superintendent's office and store, $16,212; new kindergarten, $15,083; demolition of present Wilshire avenue building and landscaping of grounds, $12,000; rehabilitation of Maple avenue school, $30,355; new addition to Maple avenue school, $17,172; rehabilitation of Chapman avenue school, $48,929; rehabilitation of Ford avenue school, $60,089; rehabilitation of Valencia drive school, $13,197.

Sale of bonds would be contingent upon acceptance of the project by the government, board members said last night. The stand of the group in halting a proposed $350,000 bond vote for the same purpose was explained by Mr. Humphries, who said that they had decided to wait for government aid before taking any action.

UNITED TOMORROW FOR ORANGE WOMAN

GARDEN GROVE, Tuesday, July 2.—Funeral services for Mrs. Johanna Bakenhus, 71, who died early Monday morning at her home in Orange will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Hilgenfeld's funeral home in Anaheim, with burial in Fairhaven cemetery. The Rev. W. Rogatsky of the Anaheim Broadway M. E. church and the Rev. R. Durban of Los Angeles will conduct the services.

A resident of Garden Grove for many years, Mrs. Bakenhus suffered a stroke of apoplexy about two months ago and a second one Sunday which caused her death.

Eleven children, 26 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren survive. The children are Mrs. Eleanor Knapp and Mrs. Presa Bonner of Garden Grove, Edwin and Paul Bakenhus and Mrs. Lydia Hoffman of Santa Ana, Herman Bakenhus of Azusa, Mrs. Hulda Kraft of Anaheim, Mrs. Margaret Jackson of Carter, Mont.; Mrs. Minnie Huffman, Mrs. Hannah Tess and Mrs. Elizabeth Knack of Herrington, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Wakeham were hosts for the meeting of their neighborhood card club recently. Bridge prizes for high scores were won by Mrs. E. A. Wakeham and Ned Wakeham. A supper was served at the close of the games.

Don Wakeham, Lloyd McMillan and Dick Mitchell returned Sunday from several days at Catalina. Mr. and Mrs. George Weatherbee and two daughters, Marjorie and Doris, left Monday morning for their home in Aberdeen, Wash. after a ten-day visit at the Charles George home. Sunday the visitors were taken on a trip to beaches of Los Angeles county.

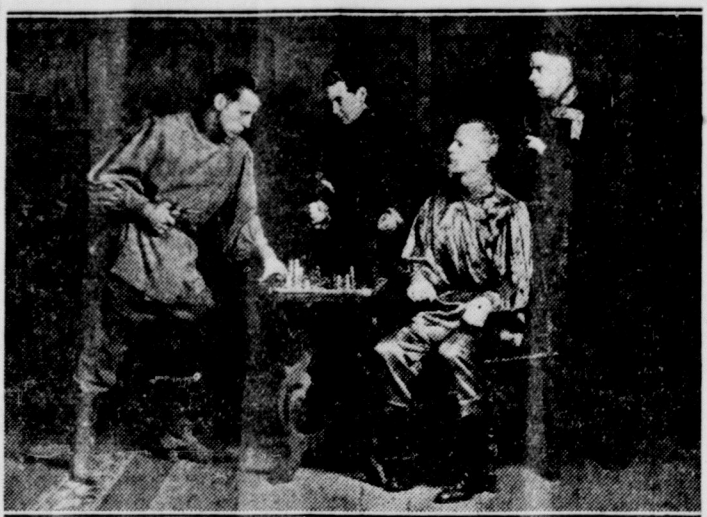

Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Magnusson and sons, Howard and Sigurd, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Win Magnusson of Bellflower, Sunday the occasion being the birthday anniversary of Mrs. P. M. Magnusson.

Mrs. H. W. Kimball is entertaining as her house guest her niece, Miss Jeanne Elvey of Ingleside.

Dr. B. Peryl Magill, Miss Julia Magill, James Magill and his son Warren visited the San Diego fair last week.

In the early days of North Carolina, burning at the stake was an official manner of inflicting death sentences.

Let These Decorate Your Kitchen

PATTERN 5373

Some people claim there's nothing new under the sun. But we think we've found something in these attractive towels. At least they'll certainly make your kitchen look new. You have your choice—you can do the motifs in outline stitch or in applique. The whole motif is just one big patch. You embroider over it afterwards bringing out all the details. Of course, you'd do the patch in the outstanding color of the kitchen. You can do each motif in a different color whether it's just embroidery or applique.

In pattern 5373 you will find a transfer pattern of six motifs averaging 5x3 inches; material requirements; color suggestions; illustrations of all stitches needed.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to Santa Ana Journal, 117 East Fifth street, Santa Ana, Calif.

QUESTION ACTS TWO TEACHERS QUIT JOBS

NEWPORT BEACH, Tuesday, July 2.—Constitutionality of the new-hat boat franchise granted to Darrell W. King by the city of Newport Beach was questioned at the city council meeting last night.

George Reed, live-bait boat operator of Newport, and Milton Emlein and Willis Lyman, Long Beach attorneys, accused city officials of an alleged illegal decision in the case. City Attorney Roland Thompson stated that the franchise grant to the highest bidder was according to state law.

The harbor budget of $5270, including price of a new patrol boat for Harbor Master Thomas Bouche and the chamber of commerce advertising budget of $7200, were approved.

With approval of the council, Mayor Newman Hilmer appointed C. F. Dennison, L. W. Briggs and Fred Briggs as members of the city planning commission to replace E. I. Moore, John Vogel and F. C. Brookings, who recently resigned.

Bids will be advertised for the next three weeks for a new $1300 harbor patrol boat for Mr. Bouche. Meanwhile, a boat will be rented.

First reading of an ordinance was adopted declaring a one-year moratorium on delinquent taxes. It was patterned after a similar state action.

Felix F. Modjeski, former councilman, was appointed deputy city electrician and inspector.

SEE EXTENSION OF HOLIDAY

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Tuesday, July 2.—Plans for the extension of the Fourth of July celebration into a four-day affair were forwarded here today with the appointment of City Judge C. P. Patton and Herb Woods to outline festivities to entertain thousands of expected visitors over the week-end. They were selected by D. E. Burry, president of the chamber of commerce.

The navy battleship U. S. S. Oregon is sending its 2000 crew to participate in the morning parade, it was announced this morning by W. H. Gallienne, chamber of commerce secretary.

MANY MIDWAY CITY PEOPLE ATTEND SUNDAY PICNIC

MIDWAY CITY, Tuesday, July 2.—Many people from this vicinity attended the "Old Timers" picnic at Irvine park on Sunday and renewed old friendships. Among those who attended were Mr. and Mrs. E. Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Price, Mr. Frank Walker, and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hazard and Ted Hazard, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Brentlinger, Robina Brentlinger, and Mr. and Mrs. William Schmidt.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Campbell and daughter, Joyce and Janice, attended a reunion of the McClary family at Houghton park in Long Beach recently.

VETERANS' COUNCIL SUSPENDS MEETINGS

Meetings will be suspended during the summer months, according to decision of the County Veterans' Allied Council, at their session held last night in Veterans hall here.

Legislation before congress at present was discussed at the meeting. Commander Charles Camm presided.

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Tuesday, July 2.—Resignations of two high school instructors were read and accepted at a special meeting of the school board last night.

Lawrence Pitcher, industrial arts teacher, and William Lockwood, mathematics instructor, were the two who resigned. Mr. Pitcher told board members he had accepted a position in Ventura High school, and Mr. Lockwood said he will teach at Santa Monica Junior high.

Principal S. R. Stanbery told members of the board that he plans to prefer charges of insubordination against Stanley Gould, physical education instructor. He charged that Mr. Gould had demanded payment of his salary before action was taken by the board for such payment. When he refused to allow the principal to leave his office, detaining him against his will, Mr. Stanbery alleged.

The physical education instructor was allowed a hearing before the board, at which he denied the charges. The principal then told board members he would seek other action on his charges if the board failed to act.

A regular meeting will be held Monday to consider applicants for the two vacant positions on the teaching staff.

C. E. GROUP OFFERS SUNDAY PROGRAM

WESTMINSTER, Tuesday, July 2.—The Christian Endeavor society of the Presbyterian church provided the program at the regular church service Sunday evening when the young people who had attended the state convention at Fullerton told in talks and music of the convention program.

The service opened with a piano and organ number, played by Mary Lou Hare and Marvin Penhall, followed by a scripture reading by the Rev. George Greer. C. E. members sang rally songs and choruses. Craig Snadell gave a word picture of the assembling of the convention.

Frank Eastwood took as his topic, "Impression of the C. E. Fellowship." Marvin Penhall and Mary Lou Hare gave musical features of the assemblage and Mary Eastwood concluded with a report on the "Convention as a Whole."

FUNERAL HELD FOR COSTA MESA MAN

COSTA MESA, Tuesday, July 2.—Funeral services were held yesterday at 2 p. m. at the Dixon chapel for Lee Griffith, 76, who died Saturday at his home, 132 Westminster street. The Rev. Russell C. Stroup officiated. Interment was in Westminster Memorial park.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Mary Griffin; a son, C. H. Griffin of Los Angeles and two daughters, Mrs. Bessie Sharp of San Bernardino and Mrs. Bernice Sorter of Amarillo, Tex.

CITY MAY CONDEMN LAND LIGHTING TAX RAISE SEEN

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Tuesday, July 2.—Condemnation proceedings against the Mills Land and Water company will be launched immediately by the city of Huntington Beach, it was decided at last night's council meeting. The action followed the company's asserted refusal to allow the city to construct a 21-inch sewage line through their land in the flats east of the city. The pipe line would connect the proposed new $75,000 sewage treatment plant with the city proper.

Should condemnation action be denied, it would cost the city an additional $7000 to construct the pipe line around the Mills company's land instead of across it, according to City Engineer Harry A. Overmyer. Hansen Moore, representing the land and water group, claimed that placing of a pipe line might hinder future oil development in the 200-acre tract.

NEWPORT COUNCIL APPROVES REQUEST FOR SEA WALL

NEWPORT BEACH, Tuesday, July 2.—Approval of the proposed $200,000 sea wall around Balboa Island was given at the city council meeting last night. City Engineer R. L. Patterson was authorized to survey the project and draw plans and specifications immediately. A committee was appointed, including Roland Thompson, city attorney; Mr. Patterson, and H. L. Parks, chairman of the city planning commission, to investigate federal improvement acts under which the project may be completed.

The Balboa Island Improvement association presented a petition bearing 192 signatures of property owners and residents of the island asking the council to launch proceedings immediately for the construction of the sea wall.

Corona Del Mar property owners petitioned the council to disregard the court injunction and begin work on construction of bathers on the ocean front. Attorney Roland Thompson stated that the hearing on the injunction was scheduled in superior court July 24.

BUSINESS MEETING OF CHURCH TO BE HELD TONIGHT

PLACENTIA, Tuesday, June 2. Possibility of a slight raise in the lighting district tax here was foreseen at a meeting of the city council here last night at the final discussion of lighting problems of the district. Residents living outside of Placentia city limits previously had protested that they were not receiving lights for which they were paying.

Supervisor LeRoy Lyon named a committee of Ed Backs, E. A. Eisenacher, Frank Hixon, Mayor C. R. Young and Gus Barnes to survey the district and authorize changes in lights now in use and installation of others. He will make provisions in next year's budget for a raise of about five cents in the lighting district rate to cover action of the committee, Supervisor Lyon said.

SALES STAFF OF COMPANY INCREASED

The J. C. Horton Co. today announced the addition to its sales department of Edgar R. Penn, who comes to the local business house from Barker Bros., Long Beach, where for the past three years he has been general salesman and decorator. Mr. Horton expressed satisfaction in being able to identify Mr. Penn with his store, as he has known him for the past 15 years, and recognized his ability.

"I feel we are fortunate in getting Mr. Penn to identify himself with our business," said Mr. Horton. "He comes to us with an experience and enthusiasm that cannot help but be beneficial to both customer and store. He specializes in home arrangement, knows color schemes, and will be glad to assist housewives in making the home give that restful and attractive appearance which every woman strives for."

Mr. Penn came to California and Long Beach in 1920 from Dayton, Ohio, where he had been identified with the Hoover-Rond Co., a concern which operated 17 furniture stores in Indiana and Ohio. The foundation for his business career in the line of his choice was extensive, and gave him opportunity to acquaint himself with the various departments of the furniture business. Aside from his connection with Barker Bros., he worked for the Phillips Furniture Co. at Long Beach as salesman.

"I am pleased to be able to become a member of Mr. Horton's sales department," said Mr. Penn. "I have known him as an aggressive and successful business man for many years, and on a previous occasion tried to identify myself with his firm."

Mr. and Mrs. Penn and little daughter, Joyce, will become Santa Ana residents just as soon as suitable living accommodations are available.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS FANS TO PICK GRID SQUAD

CHICAGO, Tuesday, July 2. (AP) The people's choice for a 1934 college all-star gridiron squad will battle it out for the second time with professional football, represented by the Chicago Cubs, under the floodlights at Soldier field, August 29.

Last year fans of the country "elected" 22 stars of the 1933 college gridiron, who thrilled a crowd of 30,000 spectators by battling the Bears to a scoreless tie in the Chicago Tribune's first annual spectacle of the kind.

Seniors Only Eligible
Only players who were seniors on last year's college and university teams will be eligible for the game. The two players at each position piling up the largest number of votes, will report to Dyche stadium, Northwestern university, August 10 for three weeks of preparation.

The balloting for players will start July 6 and will continue for two weeks. From July 21 to midnight of August 5, a poll to select a head coach and two assistants will be held. Noble Kizer of Purdue rolled up 617,000 votes last year in winning the head coach's job, but having handled the collegiate squad once, is not eligible again.

Newspaper Vote
The vote will be conducted by the Tribune and 104 other newspapers in 34 states and the total vote for players and coaches is expected to reach 200,000. The profit from the game will be divided among Chicago's united Catholic and Jewish charities.

ANGELS, SEALS BACK HOME

By The Associated Press
The Los Angeles and San Francisco ball clubs are back in California today prepared to finish their respective campaigns without any more invasions of the northwest.

Both clubs have done well in their own parks, but have had rather a bad time of it in Portland and Seattle.

Seals Advanced
Last week the Seals won three and lost two at Seattle, with two games rained out, to climb into second place. The Angels won three and lost three at Portland, with one game postponed. Holywood managed to take four out of seven from Oakland to edge into third place, just above the Angels, while the Missions, winning five out of seven from Sacramento, continued to hold the lead.

Gabby Street's pitching staff made itself the talk of the Coast league, chalking up six straight wins, until Sunday, when Sacramento, known as a decidedly weak hitting club, rang up 43 hits in two games.

Worthington vs. Missions
The Missions took over the contract of "Red" Worthington, former Oakland outfielder, who is the property of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Hack Wilson, who holds a lot of batting records in the major leagues, will join the Portland club Thursday or Friday. With him and a half game separating the Ducks and the league leaders, Wilson's big bat may prove valuable.

LOUIS EVADES 'WELCOMING'

DETROIT, Tuesday, July 2. (AP) Joe Louis, Detroit's Negro heavyweight sensation, has his own ideas about how these homecoming celebrations should be run off.

Joe returned from his knockout victory over Primo Carnera in New York ahead of schedule, and in so doing eluded the brass bands and the welcoming committee of dock-coated dignitaries who had planned to make his return a Roman triumph he would long remember.

The welcome committee found him as he was seated at his mother's table. The word had gone around that he had returned, and they were filled with consternation.

His manager, John Roxborough, explained for Joe.

"Joe doesn't want any sort of celebration," Roxborough said. "He's satisfied just to get back home."

"Wait till I do something, like winning the title," Joe himself told those who welcome he had evaded. "Beating Carnera was nothing to have a celebration for. After I win the championship it will be different."

Kirilinko Victor

Matros Kirilinko caught up with Mike Romano, another dirty man, gave him a severe beating, walked child-like into a forearm smash, lost a fall and then won the bout when Romano was ruled out for an un-called for and illegal bit of post-mortem activity. He picked up the Russian who had been laid low by a blow to the face, and dumped him solidly on the canvass for no reason at all. Kirilinko had been far ahead all the way.

Most effective thing Romano did except for his forearm smash, which came as the referee ordered a break and didn't look very nice, was to pick up a scribe's tobacco pouch once when he had been tossed half-way into the press row and throw it in Kirilinko's face; the weed (Old Briar and very good, thank you) nearly blinded the Russian.

Casey Columbo scored an impressive win over ex-footballer Ernie Haines in the second bout, surviving a series of body slams to come through with an airplane spin and a backward body slam in 12 min. 42 secs.

Harry Ekizian and Pat Mizheringer fought to a 30-minute draw.

SEEK WAY TO HANDLE BIG SURPLUS

A study of orange packing house pooling programs is being made as a means of making possible some form of control for this year's 18,000 to 20,000 car surplus, according to Dr. D. D. Waynick, chairman of the Orange County Farm bureau citrus department. Dr. Waynick, who also is on a committee attempting to work out a control program for the industry, discussed the question at yesterday's meeting of the farm bureau directors here.

Several citrus associations are reframing their by-laws to facilitate participation in a control program if it is developed. Either seasonal pools with equalized returns or retention of a certain part of a grower's fruit from each smaller pool, would facilitate operation of a control program, it was pointed out. About one-half the houses in Orange county now are on a seasonal pool basis.

There has been some criticism of the old pooling system, in which growers chose the pool in which they wished to sell their fruit and might be either lucky or unlucky on returns. The seasonal pool enables all growers to participate equally in advantageous or disadvantageous prices.

This year there is a record breaking crop of valencia oranges and a very large surplus, but so far no control plan has been put in operation. A suggested program has been placed in the hands of the industry by the committee on which Dr. Waynick is working, but so far has not been placed in operation.

The purposes of such control is to limit shipments so that prices will return a profit to the growers. By keeping lower grade fruit off the market, the price also is stimulated. An increase of 50 cents per box to the grower means an increase of only 3 to 5 cents per dozen to the consumer, but the 50-cent margin is the difference between profit and loss to the grower.

COUNTY BARBER UNION LIKELY

Possibility of one county-wide union of barbers was seen last night at a meeting of the Orange County Central Labor union in the Labor Temple here. John Wither, delegate from the Anaheim barbers' union representing the northern part of the county, expressed a desire for affiliation of the Anaheim and Santa Ana unions to form one county-wide organization.

Other matters taken up at the meeting included the report of Norris Stone and Alvin H. Bauer, for the labor committee. They told the group that there is no need to union-made goods as Santa Ana merchants are supplied with almost every article needed.

The session was presided over by Jack Trendle, Anaheim, president. Cal Treading, Anaheim, was seated as delegate of the Anaheim carpenters' union. Adjournment of the meeting was taken with respect to the late William A. Borland, carpenter of 622 East Pine street, who recently passed away.

CRAIG PLANNING OUSTER FIGHT

Capone Fails to 'Make Grade' on Prison Ball Nine

SAN FRANCISCO, Tuesday, July 2. (AP) — The Chronicle says fellow convicts of Al Capone at Alcatraz island refuse to let him play on a "soft ball" baseball team there because he tries to order them around like his former henchmen.

Prison officials refused to comment on the reports which also said the former Chicago gang leader had failed to "make the grade" on any one of three soft ball teams, even as batboy.

The convicts, the newspaper said, claim Capone, who is serving a sentence for income tax evasion, is suffering from "delusions of grandeur" and tries to order them around like they were members of his notorious Chicago gang.

SANTA ANA YOUTH IS HERO Saves Boy From Drowning

An unidentified boy at Redding was alive today because of the heroism of Wallace McKague, 13, son of Mrs. Eileen McKague, 1025 West Walnut street. Risking his own life, Wallace saved the other boy from drowning in the Sacramento river at Redding.

News of the exploit came to Mrs. McKague in a matter of fact way in a letter from her son, written June 21, while he was en route to Selma with Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Archer, 209 West Cubbon street, to spend the summer with them and their daughter, Joy, on their ranch there.

They had stopped at Redding to camp and Wallace joined a group of other boys who were boating on the river. One of the lads in a kayak, turned over. He couldn't swim. None of the others were capable of saving their friend, so Wallace plunged in to rescue his new acquaintance.

The boy had gone under twice when the Santa Ana youth reached him. When Wallace tried to take hold of the drowning lad, the frantic youngster grabbed him around the neck and pulled his rescuer under twice.

"Well, I soaked him once and then pulled him in," wrote Wallace. "The next day he bought me an ice cream soda and as we were leaving Redding, he said 'Thanks for saving my life.'"

Mr. Archer, who is physical education instructor at the Julia LaPorte school here, is attempting to secure a life saving medal for Wallace.

PLAN ANOTHER MOVE TO SETTLE USE OF WATER BY GUN CLUBS

Another move toward a solution of the perennial problem of water use by gun clubs will be made between July 15 and 20.

The 10-year-old question was in the limelight again today as a result of a decision by the Orange County Farm Bureau board of directors to call a special meeting of farm bureau officers between those dates, at which an attempt will be made to develop definite recommendations for settling the matter.

"The question before the farm bureau," said Roland D. Flaherty, executive secretary, "is whether it will cooperate in an attempt to work out a settlement, or whether it will continue to maintain the position that no water should be used by gun clubs, and if an attempt is to be made for a settlement, what program the farm bureau should suggest."

A committee appointed by the board of supervisors reported a few weeks ago on a factual study of actual water use for farm land in the gun club area. This committee included M. N. Thompson, flood control engineer; D. W. Tubbs, agricultural commissioner; Harold Wahlberg, farm advisor; W. K. Hilliard, county surveyor, and Dr. D. D. Waynick, head of the association laboratories at Anaheim and chairman of the farm bureau citrus department. It was found that on irrigated land in the gun club area an average of nine acre inches of water per year was used, but that only a portion of the land was irrigated.

For 10 years there has been a fight to eliminate what is called non-beneficial use of water by gun clubs in filling their duck ponds. Mr. Flaherty recalled. In 1921 the board of supervisors passed an ordinance, since upheld by the supreme court, which prevents use of water in duck ponds, the court having called such use non-beneficial. Last fall the clubs asked the board to amend the ordinance so as to allow filling of the duck ponds, but agreed to submit to limitation of their use of water. As a result of this action, the fact finding committee was appointed.

The farm bureau in the past always has taken the position that no water should be used for non-beneficial purposes.

BEER PARLOR ENVIRONMENT FOR GIRLS PROTESTED

Auto camps and beer parlors are not the proper environment in which to rear children, according to Mrs. Anna Sapho, who has started suit in superior court to set aside a former decree granting her former husband, John Gerald Rodgers Jr., partial custody of the couple's two daughters.

In a decree of the Los Angeles superior court, according to the complaint, Mr. Rodgers, who operates an auto camp, restaurant and beer parlor at Doheny Park, was granted custody of his two daughters for two week-ends each month and from June 1 to September 1. The daughters are 14 and 12 years of age.

According to Mrs. Sapho's charges, when the girls are with their father they are required to serve beer to patrons of the restaurant and beer parlor, and frequently come in contact with intoxicated men. The complaint also asks that Mr. Rodgers be required to increase his monthly payments of $35 for support of the children to $75 monthly.

NATIVE SONS PLAN FOR TWO EVENTS

Two dates were announced of importance to members of Native Sons of the Golden West at their meeting held last night in the K. of C. hall.

July 15 was set for installation of officers under direction of a committee composed of Carl Schroeder, A. E. Selvedge and C. E. Salisbury.

A basket supper will be held in Irvine park August 7.

Palmer B. Stoddard of Santa Ana, was complimented with a linen shower party given by Miss Katherine Sexton last evening in her home, 1407 Spurgeon street.

Three tables of bridge were played. Silhouette tallies were used. Mrs. John S. Taylor Jr. was a checked hostess apron, and Miss Elisabeth Hurd won a box of notepaper.

A salad course was served at the card tables. A variety of pretty gifts went to the honoree. Guests also included Mrs. Decker and Messlames Ernest E. Hill, Allan Howell and J. P. Sexton, and Misses Marion Hawk, Violet Johnson, Betty Martin, Louise Sexton, Irene Boyer, Pauline Wells, Betty Vorce, Lucille Howell, Norma Wilson and Eunice Bright.

ELKS GOING TO CONVENTION

Convention-bound Exalted Ruler Don Jerome and Lecturing Knight William Garvin of B. P. O. E. lodge No. 794 will leave Santa Ana Thursday morning with their wives, headed for Columbus, O., where the national convention of Elks will be held from July 14 to 18.

They will arrive in El Paso, Tex., Friday night. Saturday they will visit with Mr. Jerome's uncle, B. W. Jerome in Carlsbad, N. M., and go through the Carlsbad Caves. They will stop in Anthony, Kas., Monday with Mr. Garvin's brother, and spend Wednesday with Mr. Garvin's sister in Kansas City, Mo.

During the convention Mrs. Jerome will stay with her sister in Chicago, while Mrs. Garvin will visit her sister in Toledo.

The return itinerary is scheduled to include Huntington, W. Va.; Frankfort, Ky.; Colorado Springs and Manitou, Colo.; and the Grand Canyon. They will arrive home in Santa Ana July 28.

When E. R. Majors, executive secretary, leaves from San Francisco July 11 on the Elks special train, he will not only be headed toward the convention, but for a visit with his father in Ohio who he has not seen for 25 years. He will join Mr. Jerome and Mr. Garvin the last two days of the convention.

GRAF AND HAHN, L. A. ATTORNEYS, VISIT HERE TODAY

In Santa Ana to try a case, W. O. Graf and S. S. Hahn, prominent Los Angeles attorneys, visited The Journal office this morning. Mr. Hahn is chief counsel of the Scripps league of newspapers.

With them was Dr. J. H. Groth, German instructor and brilliant educator at the University of Washington, who is making his first trip through the orange belt.

MARKS SET, SO FLIERS SLEEP

MERIDIAN, Miss., Tuesday, July 2. (AP) — Back to earth after more than 27 days aloft, Fred and Al Key today slept off the effects of a record endurance flight which they said wasn't "any fun."

The brothers, who brought their plane, the "Ole Miss," to a safe landing at 7:06 p. m. (EST) yesterday, broke all existing marks for sustained flying. Their record is 27 days, 5 hours and 34 minutes.

Thousands of spectators cheered as the brothers circled the field and made a perfect landing despite a flat tire.

"You get to where you feel numb after that constant whirling around in the air," Al said. They said they intended to sleep for "two or three days."

The official endurance record of 552 hours, 41 minutes, seconds, set in 1930 at Chicago by John and Kenneth Hume, broken by the Keys last Thursday at 3:13½ p. m.

Former Hope Diamond Wearer Is Near Death

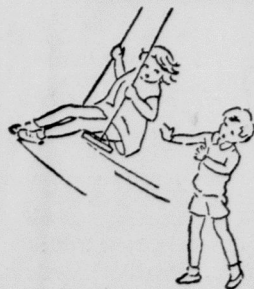

BOSTON, Tuesday, July 2. (AP) — May Yohe Smuts, 66, toast of New York and London in the "gay nineties" and once possessor of the Hope diamond, lay close to death at the Boston State hospital today.

Surgeons said a brain injury, caused by a fall, probably would end in her death.

In 1894 she was married to Lord Francis Hope, possessor of the diamond. She wore the stone twice and has experienced the heart-aches and tears associated with it.

Her marriage to Lord Hope ended in divorce in 1902. She eloped with Capt. Bradley Strong. Later, she was married to Capt. John Smuts, who was wounded in the World War, then became ill. And May Yohe turned jantress to eke out a living.

COUNTY METHODIST PASTORATE APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED

DR. WARNER'S SON NAMED TO PULPIT

Only Two Pastors in County Changed As Meeting Ends

To begin their ninth year in Santa Ana Methodist churches, the Rev. Dr. George A. Warner at First Methodist and the Rev. O. W. Reinius of Richland Avenue Methodist returned home last night from the annual Southern California conference in Long Beach, bearing with them reappointments to their churches here. "We are both very happy to be returned here," Dr. Warner said this morning.

The Rev. George A. Warner jr. was appointed to the pulpit of Magnolia Park, a suburb of Burbank, following his ordination and acceptance by the conference Sunday.

"The church is located in a fine community bordering Burbank," Dr. Warner said. "It is a new church and my son and I both feel that it offers considerable opportunity."

Only two pulpits in the county were changed. The Rev. H. K. Holtzinger will replace the Rev. H. O. Simmons, appointed to St. Mark's in Los Angeles, at La Habra. At Huntington Beach, the Rev. W. B. Cole of Taft will take the pulpit left vacant by the move of the Rev. John Engle to the church of San Diego.

The Rev. Dr. James Edwin Dunning of Santa Ana was reappointed superintendent of San Diego district. Other appointments in the county included the Rev. Ray C. Harker to First church in Anaheim and the Rev. Lyman H. Bayard to the Broadway church, there; the Rev. E. Dow Hoffman to Fullerton; the Rev. J. H. Thompson to Wintersburg; the Rev. Russell C. Stroup, Newport Beach; the Rev. A. T. Hobson, Orange.

'Snatch Racket' Puts Spotlight on Woman in Role of Kidnaper's Wife

Kathryn Kelly, center, wife of George "Machine Gun" Kelly, played her role of "kidnaper's wife" too well and drew thereby a life sentence in the penitentiary. Still playing their parts, with the end of the dramas due soon in federal court trials, are Margaret Waley, left, charged with participation in the Weyerhaeuser case for which her husband is serving 45 years, and Frances Robinson, right, charged in connection with kidnapping of Mrs. Berry V. Stoll, for which Thomas H. Robinson, jr., still is sought.

By Associated Press

The "snatch racket" has brought a new actress into the drama played constantly in and about the underworld. She is cast in the role of "kidnaper's wife."

Margaret Thulin Waley, "giggly" 19-year-old wife of Harmon Metz Waley, confessed Weyerhaeuser kidnaper, will go on trial July 5 for her alleged participation in the nation's latest sensational "snatch."

Trial is set October 17 for Frances Althaus Robinson, indicted with her fugitive husband, the "lone wolf" Thomas H. Robinson, jr., in connection with the kidnapping and ransom of Mrs. Berry V. Stoll, Louisville, Ky.

Kelly's Wife Cunning

Behind prison bars is Kathryn Thorne Kelly, typical gangster's moll except perhaps for her quick, fierce cunning. In the opinion of federal agents, it contributed much to the sudden underworld rise of her husband, George "Machine Gun" Kelly, convicted in the Charles F. Urschel kidnapping.

Federal agents find nothing surprising in the fact that kidnapping, proportionately, has dragged more wives into the crime circle recently than other major offenses. The victim must be tended and fed and watched, a "household duty" in the male kidnappers' minds, the federal agents say. The women, too, point out, are considered good "binds."

They're Not Alike

The wives dragged into the light by agents of justice seeking to unravel kidnappings follow no set pattern.

Margaret Waley, plump member of a family of 14 children, married at 18 her ex-convict husband and for a year strung along with him on a trail of poverty and living-on-relief that led from the state of Washington to New Jersey and back again.

That she enjoyed her hour of affluence there seems little doubt. She threw bills about from the $200,000 ransom with an abandon that inevitably led to her arrest. Cheap trinkets and dresses caught her eye—she bought them. She tipped a clerk $5; she gave a friend $5 for a graduation gift and then added other presents.

There is little resemblance there to the brazen, sharp-tongued Kathryn Kelly who showered alternately investives and smiles on her captors. She took her life sentence unmoved.

Her mother, a few weeks earlier, accepted the same sen-

FIREMEN ONCE QUIT HERE Old Paper Recalls 'Strike'

On July 28, 1885, members of the Santa Ana fire department decided to strike. They held a meeting and unanimously voted in favor of resigning from the force.

Why? Because at an election the voters had turned down a proposition asking for $500 with which to purchase a bell, erect a bell tower and provide sufficient funds to operate the department.

Such is the information in a report on the activities and history of the fire department found among the interesting old papers in the cornerstone box of the old city hall, and now in the keeping of City Auditor Lloyd Banks.

The report on the fire department's history makes note of the fact that the fire department was reorganized October 18, 1886, but it fails to record whether the city had a fire department from the day the firemen resigned until the department was reorganized.

Organized in 1883

The history records that the department was organized first on Nov. 1, 1883, under an act of the legislature. Its equipment consisted of one hand-chemical engine and a hook and ladder truck. The station was located on Sycamore street between Third and Fourth streets.

In 1904, when the report was written, the department's equipment consisted of two hose carts

tence with the same unfathomable expression.

Mrs. Robinson Quiet

Nor do any of these resemble the tall, slender brunette Frances Robinson. She lived quietly with her parents and her four-year-old son in Nashville. When her father died three months ago, she moved with her mother and son to a modest little country home.

Before that October day when she was jerked into the limelight by her arrest, she had lived obscurely. Her husband, who had been a patient in two state hospitals for the insane, was at home frequently.

She has insisted she participated in Mrs. Stoll's release and in the delivery of the ransom only through persuasion by Mrs. Stoll's family.

and a hook and ladder wagon. The construction of a new "engine" was underway, and the department had just constructed for installation of a fire alarm system costing $8,000.

On the tenth day of May, 31 years ago, residents of Santa Ana witnessed the laying of the cornerstone of the city hall that is being replaced now by a $120,000 structure. The original building cost $20,000, which was a lot of money in those days even for a city hall.

When the cornerstone was placed in position, those assembled saw Mayor S. H. Finley place a small copper box in a niche cut in the granite block. They saw the big stone moved into place and sealed. Some no doubt wondered just how long it would be before the copper box was again brought to light.

On March 10, 1935, the old city hall was all but wrecked by an earthquake. It was pronounced unsafe for use, and the city offices were moved to their present locations at Broadway and Second streets. The old cornerstone was removed and is now among the relics at the Bowers Museum on North Main street, and the copper box was turned over to the city auditor.

People Proud of City

Even in 1904, Santa Anans were proud of their city. They boasted that Santa Ana was the fourth largest city in Southern California, and pointed with pride to their crops and beautiful surrounding country. Among the articles included in the copper box were pamphlets prepared by the chamber of commerce. Frank Ey was president of the chamber at that time, and J. A. Willson was secretary.

A lengthy report written by J. C. Templeton, then superintendent of schools, related that there were 1,700 students enrolled in the city's schools, and that there were 44 teachers in the entire system. Today Santa Ana has 6,256 students enrolled in city schools, and 260 teachers.

There was also a financial statement from the board of directors of the city library compiled by Miss Jeannette McFadden, librarian. Miss McFadden is librarian at the present time. The personnel of the board was as follows:

YOUTHS SEEK $300,000 IN DAMAGES

Alleging false arrest and malicious prosecution, three Tustin youths have filed damage suits totalling $300,000 against the Southern Pacific railroad company, three of its officials, and Police Chief John Stanton of Tustin. Railroad officials named in the action were J. J. Kelley, D. F. Hanley and Harvey Gulick.

The suits were filed by parents on behalf of Wendell Brown, Raymond G. Whiting and Allen Stutsman. Each youth is seeking $75,000 actual damages and $25,000 exemplary damages for the "humiliation, oppression, temporary loss of personal liberty and mental and physical pain" they suffered through their arrest.

According to the complaint, the boys were accused of malicious mischief by the railroad company on July 2, last year, which alleged they placed an iron bar in a switch frog on the railroad right of way. The damage actions charge that Chief of Police Stanton arrested them without warrants and caused them to be held for 76 hours in the county detention home.

On the following day, the actions allege, Mr. Kelley, agent for the railroad company, signed a complaint against the boys in justice court at Tustin and caused a warrant to be issued against them. The boys later were released when charges against them were dismissed.

SUE FOR PAYMENT OF BUILDING AND LOAN CERTIFICATES

Declaring that moratorium legislation restricting building and loan associations from making withdrawals payable to certificate holders is not valid, and that there is no cause for such emergency legislation at this time, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Miller have started suit in superior court to force the Mutual Building and Loan Association of Fullerton to pay two certificates totalling $12,500.

In addition to payment of the two certificates, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin are seeking declaratory relief.

Dr. C. D. Ball, president; C. S. Crookshank, secretary; and W. M. Smart, J. P. Greeley and H. J. Forgy.

19,700 in County

According to a report of the county clerk, C. D. Lester, the population of Orange county at that time was approximately 19,700, with a total of 3,327 electors registered. The total valuation of real estate in the county was $7,846,250, and the value of personal property was placed at $1,774,829. The following were county officers at that time: Z. B. West, judge of the superior court; H. C. Head, district attorney; C. D. Lester, county clerk; Theo. Lacy, sheriff; George E. Peters, recorder; W. G. Potter, treasurer; and Frank Vegli, assessor.

There also was included in the box a paper proclaiming that May 10, 1904, was the date of the laying of the cornerstone. It was signed by Mayor Finley, and Councilman A. C. Black, George L. Wright, D. L. Anderson and J. L. Quick.

Editions of Blade

A special edition of the Santa Ana Blade dated May 8, 1904, and a regular edition dated May 7, 1904, were included. City Clerk Ed Tedford had written his name in the corner of one of them. On the front page of the regular edition was an advertisement, "Homer G. Ames, attorney at law."

Clear down at the bottom of the box, and over in one corner, was found a nickel dated 1887. How it got there, or why it was placed in the box is a mystery. The cornerstone laying committee recently appointed by Mayor Fred C. Rowland may decide to place the old copper box and its contents, together with modern data concerning Santa Ana, in the new cornerstone. T. E. Stephenson, chairman of the committee, explained that several persons who had heard of the existence of the old papers have urged that they be included in the new cornerstone.

How New 3 Per Cent Sales Tax Is to Operate

SACRAMENTO, Tuesday, July 2 (AP)—California merchants and consumers will pay the new 3 per cent sales tax, with foodstuffs exempt, in this manner: Purchasers of foodstuffs will not be taxed, but they must pay a 3 per cent tax on all other merchandise at the time of sale. Merchants will continue to make quarterly returns to the state board of equalization in Sacramento, paying 3 per cent on their gross receipts. Grocers will be forced to set up added bookkeeping facilities. They must report to the board their total gross receipts and they will be permitted to deduct the sum of gross receipts constituting foodstuffs sales, paying the 3 per cent tax on the balance.

Thus, if a grocer sold $20,000 worth of goods in a quarter year and $15,000 was in foodstuffs, he would report the entire sales, deduct the $15,000 and pay a 3 per cent tax on the remaining $5,000, or a tax of $150.

It will be up to the grocer to keep his accounts in a manner so that taxable sales, such as soaps, baking soda, flavoring extracts, clothespins, lime, lye, bottled water, candy, liquor, ammonia and other products not strictly foodstuffs, are segregated from non-taxable sales of such commodities as sugar, milk, meat, fruit, vegetables, cereals, bread, butter.

Another provision of the new act specifies that the tax may be collected from either purchaser or seller in cases where heavy commodities such as automobiles, are bought within the state but delivered outside California.

The board will augment a force of auditors in the field to make regular inspections of mercantile accounts to prevent any evasions.

U. S. DEFICIT OVER THREE BILLIONS

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, July 2 (AP)—The treasury's deficit for the fiscal year ending last Sunday was $3,575,357,903.61.

The figure, covering the second full year of the New Deal administration, compares with a deficit of $3,989,496,035.42 in the previous fiscal period.

It is considerably less than the $4,869,118,338 deficit estimated in the president's budget message to congress last spring. Receipts during the year totalled $3,800,467,281.96, compared with $3,115,554,049.53 of the previous year. They exceeded budget estimates of $3,711,650,688.

Expenditures in the year established a new peacetime total of $7,375,825,165.57, including $3,654,590,530.81 of "emergency" spending. This compared with $7,105,050,084.95 in the previous fiscal period, which included emergency spending totaling $4,004,135,550.81.

Total expenditures of $5,851,065,026 had been estimated in the president's budget.

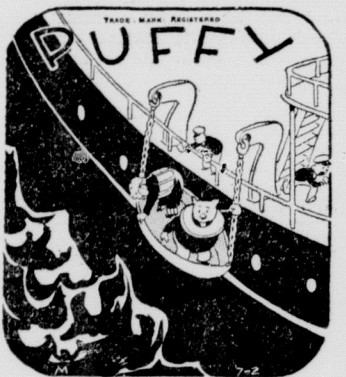

The gross public debt increased during the year from $27,053,141,414.48 to $28,700,892,624.53 at the close of business June 29.

TWISTERS KILL FOUR IN N. D.

MINOT, N. D., Tuesday, July 2 (AP)—Four persons were reported killed, and several injured as the result of devastating tornadoes which swept the northwestern section of North Dakota late yesterday, causing property damage estimated at thousands of dollars.

Striking in the northern section of the Badlands south of Watford City, the tornado traveled east to Sisseton where it dipped down again and then jumped north to the vicinity of Ross.

In restoration of 6 per cent interest payments on the certificates, alleging that this rate of interest was agreed upon at the time the certificates were purchased. The association, according to the complaint, has refused to pay more than 4 per cent since March 10, 1933.

The big ship is sinking! The storm is tremendous! "Oh, where," Dungle moans, "are they planning to send us?" A boat then is launched holding Dungle and Puffy. It bucks like a broncho the sea is so rough.

POLKAS—FOR THE MODERN DANCER

Dots are dashing for the goer to summer parties and teas. . . The graceful "swish" of skirt circular from just above the knees to the ground adds to the feminine appearance of this frock. Cotton is very smart for summer wear, or you could have an "informal" in voile or in white organdy with an old-fashioned nosegay tucked into the white sash. You might, too, have it in net, mousseline de soie or flowered chiffon.

NEWLYWED COUPLE TO BE AT HOME TO FRIENDS

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Viasschaert (Marion Hanson), whose wedding was a pretty one of last Sunday afternoon in the Costa Mesa Community church, will return from their wedding trip to Catalina Island and be at home to their friends after tomorrow at 3554 Fifty-eighth street, Los Angeles.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Hanson of Costa Mesa, wore ivory satin, princess style, an imported Venetian lace veil, and carried an armful of gardenias, rosebuds and bouvardia. Her maid of honor, Miss Pearl Christenson, wore yellow net over satin and carried talisman roses.

Bridesmaids were Miss Margaret Klippel in pink organdy with green and silver tulle muffs and gardenia corsage, and Miss Evelyn Rollins in green organdy with pink and silver muffs and similar corsage. Mrs. Hanson wore powder blue crepe and lace with picture hat and gardenias.

William Moyle was best man, and Chester Hanson and Louis Viasschaert were ushers. The Rev. W. I. Lowe officiated. Wanda Thompson was soloist.

The bride's traveling costume was a white wool swaggar suit, white accessories and gardenia corsage.

FORMER TUSTIN TEACHER RETURNS HOME

Mrs. Lida Turner Johnson and her young son, Ralph, left Santa Ana this week for San Diego to see the exposition, thence to return to their home in Lincoln, Neb., after spending last week as guests of Dr. J. I. Clark and Mrs. Clark, 1611 North Broadway. Dr. Clark and Mrs. Johnson are cousins. She is a former teacher in the Tustin schools.

Their stay here was made pleasant for the Nebraskaans by their hosts, who took them on various sightseeing trips. They also visited Dr. J. E. Paul and Mrs. Paul in Tustin and other Tustin friends. Before returning home, Mrs. Johnson and her son will visit Yosemite National park.

Make Your Next Marian Martin Frock Simple or Dressy!

PATTERN 9399

Here's one afternoon frock that's just clever enough to suit your taste be it for "simple" or "dressy" clothes. The big secret lies in the trimming and the sleeves. If you like your styling soft but simple, note the tailored appearance of the smart buttons and the loosely flared sleeves. The softness of the bodice and gathered sleeve lends femininity to the tailored crispness of yoke and skirt panel. But, if you succumb to the allure of dressiness, let flowers bloom at the neck and sleeves gather in to a flattering puff. Just take your choice, but do choose daintily printed sheer cotton or silk. Complete, Diagrammed Marian Martin Sew Chart included.

Pattern 9399 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 3 1/2 yards 39-inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern.

JUST OUT . . . MARIAN MARTIN SUMMER PATTERN BOOK . . . forty enlightening pages to lead your way to Summer Chic! Clothes for every occasion for every member of the family, from the Tiny Tot, the Dashing Deb, the Blushing Bride to the Mature Matron! Every design beautifully illustrated, every pattern so easy even the Beginners are assured of success! SEND FOR YOUR COPY NOW! PRICE OF BOOK FIFTEEN CENTS. BOOK AND PATTERN TOGETHER, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Initiate Two At Meeting Of O.E.S.

Two candidates were initiated at the meeting of Hermosa Eastern Star held last night in the Masonic temple. Rites were held for Mrs. J. T. Osborn and Mrs. Eunice Coldille. Rena Borchard sang during the service, conducted by Vera Jacoby and Dr. Cassius Paul, worthy matron and worthy patron, respectively.

Following the meeting a program was presented under direction of Ruby Drake. Clinton Campbell sang "Hills of Home" by Fox and "Amapola," a Spanish lyric. Tod Drake played "Souvenir" by Drla and the "Largo" from Dvorak's "New World Symphony" as violin numbers. Concluding the program, Joan McKamy gave a Spanish dance to the melody of "Isle of Capri," with the two boys singing and playing as accompaniment. Audrey Pieper accompanied at the piano.

Members with birthdays in March, April, May, and June were feted at the refreshment tables, decorated to carry out a July Fourth motif.

Committee chairmen were Ruby Drake, program; Nellie Smith, refreshments; Lucille Cameron, decorations, assisted by Katherine Reid, Marian Valley, Helen Abbey, Clara McCord, Gladys Camlet and Oma Hall.

Amber Circle will hold a pot-luck at Anaheim park July 11. The next meeting of the Star will be a supervised pot-luck dinner July 15.

SON MARRIES ON PARENTS' SILVER ANNIVERSARY

June 29th was a big day in the family of the Rev. Edwin O. Colbeck and Mrs. Colbeck of 309 East Chestnut street for it not only marked their silver wedding anniversary but was the wedding date of their son, Paul Frederic, to Miss Hope Quinn of Berkeley.

The marriage of the latter couple culminated a long courtship. The two had met several years ago while attending high school in Elko, Nev. Since then, the young Mrs. Colbeck had gone on to the University of California at Berkeley and her husband has taken a course in Diesel engineering there. They will live in Berkeley.

Surprising Mr. Colbeck's parents, the newlyweds arrived in Santa Ana Sunday to announce their marriage the previous day. The elder Colbecks had been married in Rochester, N. Y.

Lawn Party Pays Honor To Three

The lawn surrounding the little home and grocery of Miss Mary B. Lockhart, at 615 Second street, was the setting for a delightful party on Sunday, the occasion being the celebration of three birthdays: Those of little Royce Jacob, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Jacob; Forest James Russell, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Russell, and Mrs. Benjamin B. Steele, Los Angeles, a sister of Miss Lockhart.

The large prize lemon tree with its choice fruit formed a canopy for the party table. Rainbow tints were attractively used in the table cloth, flowers and the menu. At the close of the meal the table was used for the distribution of many birthday gifts and a large cake. A merry-go-round in miniature with animal crackers in pairs and a canopy of red and white added to the merriment of the guests. This was the work of Mrs. Russell.

Attending the pretty party were Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin B. Steele, Los Angeles; Mrs. Mildred Jacob, Pasadena; Mrs. Rosalie Marshall, O. A. Lyman and son, Fay Lyman; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Jacob and son, Royce; Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Lockhart, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Russell and son, James Jr. and the hostess, Miss Lockhart.

VENNA GOODWIN FETED AT LEAGUE PARTY

"Surprise, Happy Birthday to Venna Goodwin" was the greeting of members of the First Methodist Epworth league Sunday night following league meeting on the sands of Laguna Beach when they assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Howell on Astor street, Laguna Beach.

The honoree was led unsuspectingly to a large decorated birthday cake in the dining room of the hostess's home on which had been written "Happy Birthday." Punch and cake before the fireplace of the Howell home concluded the evening. Mrs. F. Howell assisted the hostess.

Present were Mrs. Mary Mann and daughter, Mary Lou Mann, Mary Wallace, Charlotte Stewart, Betty Reade, Harry Motley, Venna Goodwin, Herman Goodwin, Marjorie Jacobs, Jim Newman, Mrs. Mrs. Vernald Selvidge and son, Donald; Joe Prevost, Florence Ulrich and Mary Jane Dyer.

TALENTED MUSICIAN TO CONTINUE HER TRAINING

Friends of Miss Josephine Madrid, former Santa Ana student, and talented young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Madrid of 1518 Spurgeon street, today learned that she has given up her local musical activities in order to enter extensive musical training in Los Angeles, preparatory to going to New York next fall to launch herself in her profession.

Miss Madrid is a talented pianist and organist. Her work as organist in St. Joseph's church will be taken over by Constance Brown, 14-year-old pupil of Harry Garstang.

BERKELEY RESIDENT ARRIVES FOR VISIT IN CITY

Mrs. W. B. Chase Jr., and her young daughter, Katherine Cecile, of Berkeley, arrived yesterday in Santa Ana to spend the week visiting Mrs. Louise Norton, 1620 North Baker street.

Mrs. Norton has received word from her mother, Mrs. M. C. Maloney, and her brother, Joseph, that they are spending a week or two visiting relatives in northern Oregon, and will return to Santa Ana the last of the month.

TOMATO MEDLEY

By Mrs. J. E. Gowen
928 Spurgeon street

Select firm, large tomatoes; scald and peel; scrape out all pulp possible; place pulp in dish with salt, pepper and 1 tsp. butter. Add canned corn, chopped peas and small limas, also bit of parsley.

Cook about five minutes. Fill tomato shells, and top with bread crumbs and bits of butter. Bake in moderate oven till tomatoes are tender. If one prefers, the tomatoes may be placed in ramekins before baking.

GOOFY BIRDS

By Mrs. E. F. Gaebe
212 East Chestnut street

Cut well pounded round steak into three or four-inch squares. Spread with French's mustard. Put on slice of fried bacon, 1 slice dried pickle, and 1 slice of onion. Roll up and fasten with skewer. Roll in flour and brown well. Put in baking dish. Prepare gravy from juice and pour over the rolled meat into the baking dish. Bake 60 or 75 minutes in a hot oven.

Silver Wedding Anniversary Occasions Day's Festivities

Sunday was a gala day for Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoff of 1126 North Flower when they entertained at a family dinner at noon and held open house for members of the Orange Avenue Christian church during the evening in observance of their silver wedding anniversary.

Decorations at the dinner table were carried out in green and white with crystal baskets of white carnations and maiden hairs as a centerpiece. White tapers were set in crystal candelabras.

During the afternoon, a program was given including a piano solo by Mrs. Juanita Patton, a vocal solo by Shirley Hoff, vocal solos by Miss Ruth Switzer, violin numbers by Loren Cannon, and piano selections by Miss Alice Whitten.

Miss Vivian Switzer followed with a musical reading, accompanied by Miss Whitten, and Mrs. Hoff gave a vocal solo. The story of his first Fourth of July in the city was given by John Stivers.

Attend Wedding

Of special interest was the attendance of three persons who had been present at the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Hoff in Illinois 25 years ago. They were Philip Michael, Miss Isophene Michael and Miss Mary Armstrong.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoff, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cannon, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Stivers, Miss Mary Armstrong, Miss Isophene Michael, Miss Shirley Hoff, Miss Irene Grimshaw, Miss Ruth Switzer, Miss Vivian Switzer, Miss Alice Whitten, Miss Juanita Patton, Miss Marjorie Hoff, Philip Michael, and Howard Hoff of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Steve Cannon, Anaheim; Mr. and Mrs. Cary C. Hoff and daughter, Lois; Miss Ada Anderson, Fullerton; Mr. and Mrs. Loren Cannon, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Howell and daughter, Janet and Donna, and Mrs. A. M. Hoff, Pasadena.

Featuring the evening "open house," a mock wedding was presented by a bridal party from the church. With Mrs. R. W. Crist playing the wedding match, the following persons portrayed the members of the wedding: Homer Lindley, preacher; Mrs. C. C. White, bride; J. B. Smith, groom; Mrs. Lindley and Mrs. J. H. Sticker, bridesmaids; James Wylie, best man; Mrs. Elton Nichols, flower girl; Mrs. Joe Kelly and Mrs. Wylie train bearers; Joe Kelly, ring bearer; C. C. White, stepfather; Mrs. Ella Smith, mother of the bride; and J. H. Sticker, rejected suitor.

FRIENDS SURPRISE

MOTHER, DAUGHTER

Friends of Mrs. M. C. Moore and her daughter, Lucille, met at the Moore home, 1126 West Sixth street, for a birthday party Saturday evening in celebration of the anniversaries of the two. Games were played, music was enjoyed and a watermelon "feed" was served. Twelve friends were in the group.

Wicketts To Be At Home At Beach

Following their marriage Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Central Christian church, San Diego, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Marwood Wickett (Nea Geraldine Rutherford) of Fullerton are establishing residence this week in the Dr. William H. Wickett summer home at Long Beach, where they will remain until their new home in Fullerton is ready for occupancy.

The wedding united two prominent families, the C. H. Rutherford family of San Diego and the Wicketts of Orange county. The bridegroom is a grandson of C. C. Chapman, pioneer in the Valencia orange industry in Orange county and Southland business man.

The two young people, whose romance was a campus one, are graduates of Chapman college, which takes its name from Mr. Wickett's grandfather.

BREAKFAST SERVED IN GARDEN OF SHOEMAKER HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Shoemaker, 210 Cypress avenue, entertained Sunday at an 8:30 o'clock breakfast in their garden.

The host prepared hot cakes, and the hostess served variety of dishes. Present were Mrs. Pauline Decker, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Chandler and daughter, Chas. Henderson, John Baker and niece and George Peters and Joe Prevost.

FREE ORANGES FOR TOURISTS

GEORGE KELLOGG, president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce, somewhat startled a meeting of that organization at Costa Mesa last week by suggesting that orange growers provide a means of giving a box of oranges to every tourist who comes through Orange county this summer.

We don't know how big a box Mr. Kellogg had reference to but the idea of giving the tourists something to carry away with them besides pamphlets and real estate offerings, sounds like good sense.

According to estimates there will be a Valencia surplus of about 11,000,000 boxes this year. Unless this great over-production is made into juice, marmalade or given away for advertising purposes, there is strong likelihood that our river banks will be its last resting place.

We appreciate the value of the pro-rate and of holding back the supply until the market can absorb it but we could never bring ourselves to the A.A.A. idea of plowing under anything that mankind ought to have, be it cotton, corn, hogs or oranges. Our idea of one of the greatest sins in this modern world is the destruction of food when thousands are begging for it. If Orange county's prosperity must be maintained on that sort of basis, there is something wrong with our civilization. It certainly isn't a Christian civilization as we understand Christianity.

But there isn't any need of glutting the market. Oranges that cannot be sold CAN be given away in one of the sweetest publicity moves we know of. The way to a man's heart is through his stomach, we have been told since childhood. And it is true.

Suppose groups of pretty girls should meet tourists at the county lines with baskets of oranges and, with a smile, say: "These will help you remember Orange county." And suppose another group of pretty girls should serve cold orange juice at Orange county's booth at the California Pacific International Exposition. Would anybody EVER forget Orange county?

Mr. Kellogg has the germ of a big idea. Let's develop it.

JULY AND "HOT MONEY"

JULY is to be an important month in Orange county's year. This is the month when we are to hear more of what happened at Sacramento during the recent oil legislation. The assembly oil investigation committee is scheduled to hear what Supervisor N. E. West knows about "hot money" having been passed during the closing days of the session. He will be asked to verify his general charges made recently in The Journal. Also this is the month when the governor is to hear arguments for and against the bill permitting the director of finance to enter into leases for whipstock drilling from state-owned tidelands at Huntington Beach.

But more important than either of these incidents, will be an effort to determine whether or not Orange county has any enforceable moral right to demand a royalty from the oil obtained by whipstock drilling. It has been pretty well determined that the county has no binding, legal right, but it also is established in the minds of many, that the county does possess a moral right by reason of its general supervisory power over the Huntington Beach pool.

Whether Orange county ever will be able to exercise that moral right is a question nobody so far has been able to answer. One thing is certain: Orange county's desire to share in the wealth of the Huntington Beach pool must not be construed as interference with the rights claimed by the city of Huntington Beach. Huntington Beach has worked hard for every dollar it expects to obtain from the great operations of the major oil companies along its shoreline. If Huntington Beach can be assured of collecting the royalty that has been promised it, The Journal will back any honorable and practicable move to see that Orange county is "cut in" on a similar deal.

The controversy, with its columns of hot words and inferences of graft, has so far been largely one between two opposing oil groups or their spokesmen. Recent developments indicate more than ever that it is time for the public to take a hand and protect its own interests. To that end The Journal will devote its energies.

MONEY WELL SPENT

From the Los Angeles Times

THE Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors has shown a progressive spirit in deciding by a vote of three to one to appropriate $195,000 to forward the work of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and $155,000 for the equally important services of the All-Year Club. In both instances the only dissenting vote was cast by Supervisor John Anson Ford.

True thrift and economy dictate the wisdom of the policy of voting public expenditures for objects from which the whole public will benefit as opposed to using tax money, under pressure from interested lobbies, to promote special groups and cliques, political or otherwise. The All-Year Club and the Chamber of Commerce are public servants in the best meaning of the words. They have no private axes to grind, the funds which they distribute are subscribed by the public and return to the public with compound interest. They are immune from the taint of selfish politics.

No business can keep up with the procession without adequate advertising. This the All-Year Club provides for Southern California on a large and comprehensive scale. And if advertising is indispensable for an individual business, it is a hundred times more so for a widespread community. The All-Year Club is an official non-profit community organization to develop all-year tourist travel to California. The sum voted by the Supervisors for its support is a revenue producing item.

Whimsies

of O.O. McIntyre

New York's dressiest lady is reputedly the exotically dashing Mrs. S. Stanwood Menken. She is the wife of a prominent lawyer and her bizarre costumes are the inspiration for a hundred and one paragraphs by the fashion experts and society chatters almost every week.

Her sartorial meter smacks something of Europe's once highly pressed agent lady—the colorful Jean Nash. Lucius Beebe paragraphs the idea with: "Mrs. Menken did not wear a single feather at the Belmont opening. The day was warm and she roughed it in a cape of Imperial Russian sables." Rather dicky, what!

Mrs. Menken, tall, willowy and middle aged, extends herself at the big charity costume balls. In almost every instance her outfit is the most brilliant—brilliant as an electric light is brilliant. At many smart restaurants or night club openings she has the choicest table. Her supply of jewels is for every occasion and add lustre to the most expertly lighted room. Her well timed entrances cause every head to turn toward the doorway. She is usually escorted by her son. Her dressmaking bills are said to be larger than Mrs. Harrison Williams'.

New York has sudden touches of old world air. One may turn into 33d street between 8th and 9th avenues and come upon a French quarter as Gallic as a small town in France. There are family pensions, window-boxed auberges and Maisons in that and that. Mama insists on the door-step and bearded Papa nearby smokes his pipe and reads his latest copy of Figaro. Children in long black gowns play at the curb. On Bleeker street is the old-fashioned barbershop of August Pingleback. Instead of the usual glitter, the interior is pleasantly muffled. Shaving mugs with gold emblems are racked along the wall. A pull drawer is the money till. The shoe shiner is a veritable Uncle Tom.

Joan Bennett, Libby Holman and Betty Starbuck have the same eye trouble. None can see a great distance and in the exigency carry longnettes which cause them much grief. Wearing them, they are accused of being high-bait, and without them, they are accused of never speaking to familiars. Oddly enough, all on the stage and screen have remarkably beautiful eyes and fortunately not one is sensitive about the difficulty. Indeed it's a source of amusement.

Dramatic actresses for some reason are often afflicted with astigmatism. Nazimova and Bertha Kalich had to learn directions all over again when moving from one theatre to another. Bertha Kalich said that ten feet away everything was a blur. Lenore Ulric is also very near sighted. Duse could see well in daylight but artificial lights dulled her vision to an opaque haze. Then, of course, there was the French actress, Jeanne Lanoe, who, during her last tragic years in vaudeville, was led out to bench before the curtain arose and went through his hilarities. Few knew he was stone blind until his death. The former Fifth Avenue is also in a fog without a lorgnette yet is one of the most prodigious readers in the Social Register.

Likely no Atlantic liner purser has the "following" of the Normandie's Henry Villar. He has been successful on the same job on the France, Paris, Ile de France and now in his present post. He was a maritime avocet in Havre when he took to sea duty. An exquisite de luxe, his voice is a silken purr and he has a way of bending over a lady's hand to touch it lightly to his lips that should be, if it isn't, in the curriculum of charm schools. His greatest asset is never forgetting a name or face, plus his expertness in bringing the right people together in a cocktail lounge while the ship is on its first leg. He is in his early 40's and very bald. Many seasoned voyagers do not name his liner in discussing their voyage. They merely say: "I'm sailing with Villar."

The seasonal fad for darkly shaded shirts with collars to match—Bill Corum's is jet black—has made an all-white shirt almost a curiosity. The displays are in cream, brown, Prussian blue, salmon pink, seal gray and among gayer sprites a few of ruby red. The first colored collaret I ever beheld was the late Tommy Gray about 10 years ago. He had just hove in from England with a grass green importation and a pearl derby. And did I romp to the McCrary Brothers!

From Seattle: "The last time Bob Davis was here he ordered a stack of hot, ringed 'em with little pig sausages, heaped German fried spuds on top and poured syrup over the whole works." Go on. Don't mind me. I like to sob out loud this way.

Vending machines in Germany distribute such merchandise as beverages, cigarettes, phonograph records, bird seed and flowers.

The ventilating system on the liner Normandie includes 160 independent ventilators operating with motors and fans.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, July 2. The inside story of the President's message to Congress, the bracket taxation gives a great deal of credit—or in some people's opinion—a discredit to wily Jack Garner, bushy-browed vice-president of the United States.

It all began early last December when Roosevelt was formulating his legislative program for the coming session of Congress. Inner council liberals urged him to include a bold tax revision plan.

But at that time the President was in the middle of a right swing, and attempting to conciliate business. He turned thumbs down on the proposal, and it remained shelved until early May.

By that time Roosevelt had become completely fed up with the business goodwill policy sold to him by his conservative advisers. And when U. S. Chamber of Commerce kicked over the traces and violently denounced the New Deal the President abandoned all pretense of placating business.

HEART-TO-HEART
"I WAS at this moment that Garner, in one of his heart-to-heart talks with Roosevelt, told him he ought to come out with a hard-hitting tax program."

The idea took root in the President's mind. But it was not until some weeks later that he actually decided to act. Two things brought him to this conclusion:

(1) The supreme court's decision throwing out the NRA; and (2) the hostility of a number of Old Guard house democrats toward his holding corporation bill and the bill strengthening TVA.

Roosevelt has real fighting ire when aroused, and this time he was aroused. He had another private talk with Garner and told him he had decided to recommend tax legislation.

GARNER PLAN
"THAT'S the stuff, Mr. President," enthused the beetle-browed Texan, "and I've got the plan for you."

Garner's plan was essentially the same one he had sponsored in 1926, when he was a member of the House Ways and Means committee and Coolidge sat in the White House. Another member of the committee was beefy Ogden L. Mills, later secretary of the treasury in the Hoover cabinet.

Garner at that time proposed inheritance and gift taxes, plus a graduated tax on corporations and on incomes above a million. Mills, with the backing of the then powerful Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, defeated Garner's plan, enacting instead a program that slashed rates from top to bottom—but chiefly at the top.

Roosevelt accepted Garner's plan. It constituted that portion of his recommendations that he declared he wanted enacted this year.

TACTICAL FINESSE
BUT when the President was ready to spring his program on Congress he was confronted with the delicate question of tactics.

Roosevelt wanted action this session, but with Old Guard democrats in both chambers growing rebellious, he hesitated attempting a new and forceful drive. His problem was how to force prompt action without seeming to be applying the whip.

Here again the canny Garner gave sound counsel. He advised against calling in the democratic floor leaders before the President sent his message to Congress. They would be sure to interpose objections Jack said, bring pressure on the President not to seek the legislation this session.

The thing to do, he counseled, was to send the message to Capitol Hill without previous warning, and let the liberals who had been clamoring for tax-upping legislation apply the heat to the reluctant democrats.

SUCCESSFUL COUP
THAT was precisely what was done. Garner forecast the situation one hundred per cent.

The democratic leaders were taken completely by surprise. When they regained their breath they issued lukewarm endorsements of the taxing proposals but pooh-poohed any idea of enacting them into law. Whereupon the liberals rolled up their sleeves and announced they were prepared to fight any attempt to adjourn until the program had been disposed of.

This was just the cue the President had been waiting for. He summoned the democratic leaders to the White House. By his side was Garner, and it was the latter who did most of the hard-boiled talking. He bluntly brushed aside objections raised by Chairman Bob Doughton of the ways and means committee and Speaker Joe Byrns.

"Who is being hit by these taxes?" he demanded. "A handful of millionaires and some big corporations who are making huge profits. Under this tax plan, 75 percent of the corporations will pay less taxes. The rest can well afford to pay more."

"You say it is too late in the session to put this program through. I say that the democratic party can't afford politically not to put it through. The progressives have put us on the spot with their threat to demand action. We can't let them do that. We've got to put the President's program through ourselves."

This logic struck home. Three hours later, when the conference broke up, the leaders had agreed to force action this session regardless of how long it necessitated keeping Congress in session.

PERSONAL PLEAS
IN RECENT months White House mail has undergone a marked change.

There has been some abatement in the volume of flow, but it still continues at the rate of about 5,000 letters a week. Where once letters were predominated, the letters now are largely of a personal character, pleas, complaints, expressions of gratitude.

An example is a letter from an Iowa farmer's wife asking Mrs. Roosevelt for some of her cast-off clothing.

"Your pictures," the letter continues, "show you to be larger than I am but you know I can seem them up to fit me."

Another letter was from a southwest grower explaining to President why he had not been able to complete payment on a mule purchased through a government loan.

"I do not deny," he wrote, "that I did not pay anything on the mule. But by the time I got my land ready for planting the weather turned off dry and I could not get anything to come up. That is why I did not pay any on the mule because I did not make enough to pay for the mule."

Twenty-Five Years Ago

JULY 2, 1910

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—A pastor of a certain church in Neoga, Ill., has been made defendant in a $5,000 libel suit, following his refusal to tell the Lord that he had wronged one of his parishioners.

"Oh, Lord, make Brother Strop a better man; cause him to pay his debts and have him cease backbiting," reverently supplicated the minister in a prayer which startled his congregation.

"Now, you'd better make another prayer and straighten things up with the Lord," Strop declared. The minister refused, and the suit followed.

Dr. and Mrs. Jesse Chilton of Fullerton, Miss Orangel Chilton, John Cubbon, Miss Margaret Ore, and Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Stephenson will spend tomorrow and the Fourth at Oceanside and Del Mar, leaving in automobiles tomorrow morning and returning on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Bisel and children have returned from a two-months' stay in the east. They visited Grand Canyon, New Orleans and points in Canada.

Mrs. Paul J. Trickey gave a pretty Fourth of July party yesterday afternoon to celebrate the birthday of her little daughter, Evelyn, and her son Beverly whose birthdays are one day apart.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lewis have begun their new home of eight rooms and will make another pretty house for the Garden Grove community.

Horace Stevens is enjoying the week at Balboa, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Utt.

Sheriff Lacy, erstwhile calmest and most dispassionate of mortals, is considerably "het up" these days over the uncalculated interference of parties of both sexes with his management of the county jail.

Lemon Juice

Howdy, folks! Here comes the cashier with our pay-check. Darned if we ain't going down to the corner soda fountain and spend the whole six-bits on chocolate malted milks!

Physician believes he has found a cure for seasickness. Well, we know one that 'will work on land.

FIGURES IN THE DAY'S NEWS
Egbert Egplant is the most enthusiastic radio fan in Breg. Egbert has just invented a portable radio set that he can carry strapped to his back when swimming in the municipal plunge.

We thought for a moment this morning that Lil' Gee Gee was dancing the Carioca, but we were mistaken.

A June bug had fallen down her neck.

DIZZY DUTIES
Buy me a sody, father dear. My throat is dry and lumpy. If that is the case, my daughter dear, Go home and try the pump.

An Anaheim housewife who won a rolling-pin hrowing contest has been engaged for a vaudeville tour. This should make a demand for the first time, for seats in Row Z.

NOW, YOU TELL ONE
"When I am playing contract bridge with my wife's relatives," said this middle-aged man, "I never want to go home, even if it's wry past midnight."

Science item states that an instrument has been invented that will throw the voice of a speaker a mile. Now for one that will throw the speaker that far.

Kissing doesn't shorten life, according to Lil' Gee Gee. It just makes the time pass more quickly.

Joe Bungstarter came to work this morning with egg spilled all over his vest.

"But that's all right," declared Joe, "I look well in anything I eat."

These are the times that try men's soles!

YE DIARY

At noon, with the family, to our little beach cabin on Santiago creek, and I do intend to spend the afternoon slumbering on the verandah, but Lord! Dame Juice doth order me to fetch a greasy pile of drift wood from the beach, which I do, like a dumb ox of the field, about twice each day. I do take a noggin of cucumber cordial, a just reward, methinks, for my great industry. And an-singling merrillie, to dinner.

"I guess this lets me out," said the man as he pushed open the door marked exit.

Remarkable Remarks

The stage will stay dead because we are raising a generation of young people who don't even know what the legitimate theater is.—George Jessel, famed actor.

The wisdom and strength of the Constitution explain our persistence as a going concern in a world where almost all other democracies have failed.—Bainbridge Colby, one-time secretary of state.

I believe that if there is to be any enduring peace, international measures must be taken to improve condition of the masses.—Kemal Ataturk, president of Turkey.

There never has been a civilization that did not have its beginning in the recognition of man's right to the product of his own labor.—Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

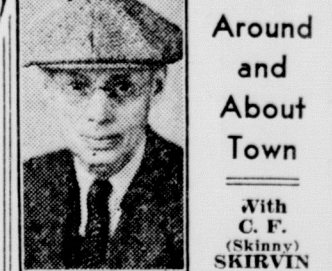

Earthquakes Do Not Stampede

Ten years ago today—the morning fog just disappearing before the warming sun—the shimmering sea glinting flecks of light—the mist-mantled islands fading into the illimitable grayness—the Channel littoral as calm as on ten thousand other summer mornings.

A quiver, sending premonitions a hundred miles along the coast—a twisting, jarring, rattling impact like the lashing of a dragon's tail on the walls of subterranean dungeons—a heaving of solid earth as the monster spewed its wrath—the gentle undulations of the hills—tumbling edifices—ominous silences—clouds of smothering dust—repeated, repulsive—tense—nervous waiting, waiting.

Driving into Santa Barbara from the north an hour after the disaster—tents hastily pitched on littered lawns—chimneys shattered or leaning at crazy angles—houses skewed from foundations—steeples turned about—cars buried under falling debris—walls sheared from the old Arlington hotel with beds and occupants chuted into the street—piles of lumber catapulted from the crumbling Earth.

SKINNY SKRIBBLES

I started out today with the intention of making this column impersonal, but so many temptations were thrown in my way that I could not resist. And then there was that overhanging order from the boss to mesh in with the population as far as my impertinence would permit. I gave me back safely to the office, so before I knew how it happened the personnel just insisted it be given a place. However, I am still loyal to that fellow who has the black eye, but I want to make the suggestion to him that my lunch hour is 11:30.

A notice in The Journal yesterday to the effect that postal receipts soar. When I get one of those postage due letters I'm also sore.

In days not so long ago irrigation ditches were open. Now water runs through concrete pipe, distributed through laterals at the ranchers' convenience with the least amount of physical exertion. You should have tried to irrigate the ranch when the open ditch method was in use, and the taproot the diverting weapon. Those were the days when you needed both brawn and intelligence. If Jerome has embraced one of those instruments many a time, but if he doesn't cease his diagonal street crossing he won't be able to give me much more historical data. Guess it's just the old Spanish custom motivating us to place a placard in the least possible delay, with a maximum amount of risk.

If you are not an old-timer you cannot extract the joy from an annual meeting at Irvine park, nor should you be criticized for not being able to do so. The time will come when you will have accumulated your old-timer's memories, and then you will get your kick out of telling about Orange county 1935, but your story will probably not be released until 1965. I won't be here to listen to it, but it will probably be something about the Japanese invasion, or the time when the chamber of commerce insisted that, "It's cool in Santa Ana all the time."

Fraternity in business had an exemplification Monday when Skribbles discovered Otto Haan and Ben MacMullen munching the noonday lunch. For two thousand years there has been an existing prophecy about the lion and the lamb lying down together, and this has been the nearest fulfillment that has crossed my path. Darned if I don't think there would have been a literal conclusion if Billy Smith hadn't filtered in and ordered a Kentucky stew.

When the Santa Ana Lions attended the San Diego convention the navy put on a parade. Along comes the band and Kenny Morrison gives Frank Harwood a nudge, and tells him to get the hat off. What for, says Frank, and Kenny, with the old musical car attuned to the patriotic, says "The band is playing the Star Spangled Banner. He didn't miss it much. The band was playing Auld Lang Syne."

Lawrence Wakeham of Tustin came into town yesterday with Ray Lambert. I think I know them. They were both in town because both of them started to make suggestions to me which, if followed, would lead to Fairhaven. What they wanted me to say about Ernie Sawyer going back to work was apropos, but the reason was not only inappropriate, but from my point of view lacked the euphemism that should have accompanied the statement.

When the rain began Monday forenoon I started out to find the oldest inhabitant, but after due consideration abandoned the search. It was a cinch that sooner or later some pioneer would be able to recollect a much later rainfall date, and then the argument would take on the same aspect that a fish story does. The fellow who had the last word also had the largest fish.

The most dangerous period in your business career is when the business is prosperous. That is the time when you are likely to neglect it because it is doing so well. For this service no charge, but you better not ignore it or there may be an overcharge.

Those hallowed memories of Orange county pioneer days are not included in my storehouse of recollections, but I imagine the old-timers who attended the picnic Sunday at Irvine park would tell me about the old tallow candle, the kerosene lamp, the horse and buggy, and other primeval hardships encountered when mankind was laying the foundation for the comfort of the present generation, blessings by the way which they never will be able to fully appreciate. In those days it was not how quick can we get to Huntington Beach or Newport, but how long will it take us? It is now but a few minutes' drive. In the old days it was a drag. To have an appreciative perspective you should have listened to the late John Cubbon tell of transportation difficulties.
